Shortridge High School • Indianapolis, Indiana • Volume 75

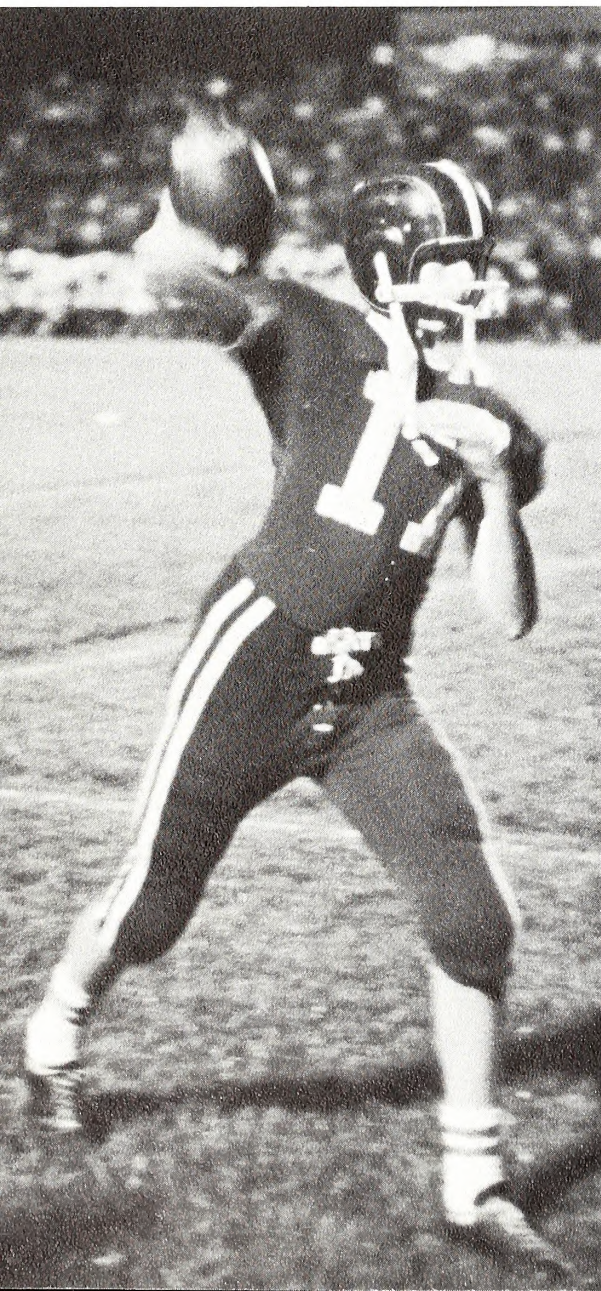

Shortridge is a school of many personalities. Each new class has brought something new to Shortridge. Each new idea builds a base on which future students stand.

Tradition is great at Shortridge but it is also a tradition to change. After one hundred and five years Shortridge has changed and yet it is still part of its first class and of its last. Shortridge is the school of tradition and change.

In 1969 the soul sound beat in the halls of Shortridge. Soul invaded the ideas and thoughts of all students. Feet walking in the halls felt that soul and tapped out the rhythm. Dances were based on soul and soul took over in the cheers. In 1969 Shortridgers were soul brothers and sisters. Shortridge is a school of rhythm.

In academics Shortridge does not change. The standards are high and will always be high because both teachers and students demand high standards. Shortridge has always been a school of knowledge. Courses change as the years pass by and many new courses are added. Books are brought up to date and new students get new knowledge. Shortridge is a school of learning.

Shortridge people stand together in all things. Whether they win or lose, the team is the greatest in their hearts. If they win, they smile together, and if they lose, they cry together. In either case Shortridgers are proud together. They know that the Blue Devils tried their best, and if they lose, then the next time the team will try harder. A Shortridge crowd never leaves their spirit at home. Stands are always filled, and cheers are loud. Shortridge is a school of spirit.

At Shortridge one can always find a friend. In clubs there are many people with the same interests. In the halls there are many people—people who are willing to be helpful and friendly with others. One has only to look around to find a friend. Cheerful greetings echo in the halls long after the building is empty. Shortridge is a school of friends.

The people of Shortridge make Shortridge what it is. Shortridge is more than just a building: Shortridge is People.

These were the People

Shortridgers. . .

. . . mentally play each move that occurs on the field.

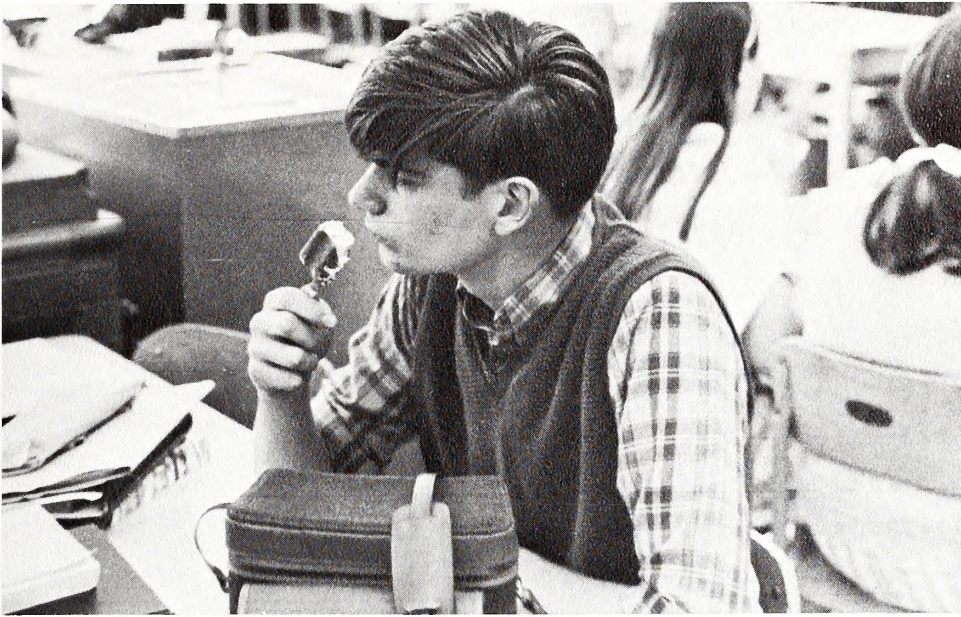

. . . hidden from the elements watch their teammates fight for victory.

. . . are ready for any emergency.

... pose elegantly in European fabrics.

... exhaust themselves on cross-country.

... ponder challenges that are set before them during high school life.

Band Receives Long Awaited Uniforms

Shortridge High School's surroundings are constantly changing.

Beginning in the spring of 1968 the old heating system was re-vamped and workmen busily began the massive undertaking of installing a new one. They worked through the summer session and on into the chilly month of October. Evidence of their handiwork was ever present, as the pupils dodged rows of cardboard boxes and metal pipes. Cooperation was the word as pupils realized the great need for work to proceed quickly, for cold months were to arrive soon.

Seniors add bright color to the front of the school like fall adds to the trees.

As School Gets New Heating System

Examples of endless change also included new Shortridge Band uniforms and instrument lockers. This addition was paid for by donations, bumper sticker sales, and receipts from the annual Sweaterman's Concert.

The ever increasing book stock in the Charity Dye Library shows more change. The stock has reached over 43,000 volumes. This makes it one of the largest in Indiana.

The school building itself boasts of a changing face of which its nearly 1800 students and 100 teachers are proud.

Students Enjoy a Myriad of Activities

With justified loyalty Sue Bradakis, John Hobbs and Nancy Barrett watch football action.

People! Shortridgers must have been some of the most active and diversified people in the world! In the Fall each pupil acquainted himself with school year haunts. The Burger Chef was again an important meeting place. Then football games began and the festivities of the season provided a good excuse for hayrides and parties.

Winter came and shivering students found hallways better for congregating than bus stops and parks. And congregate they did, for discussion, or for just fun and relaxation.

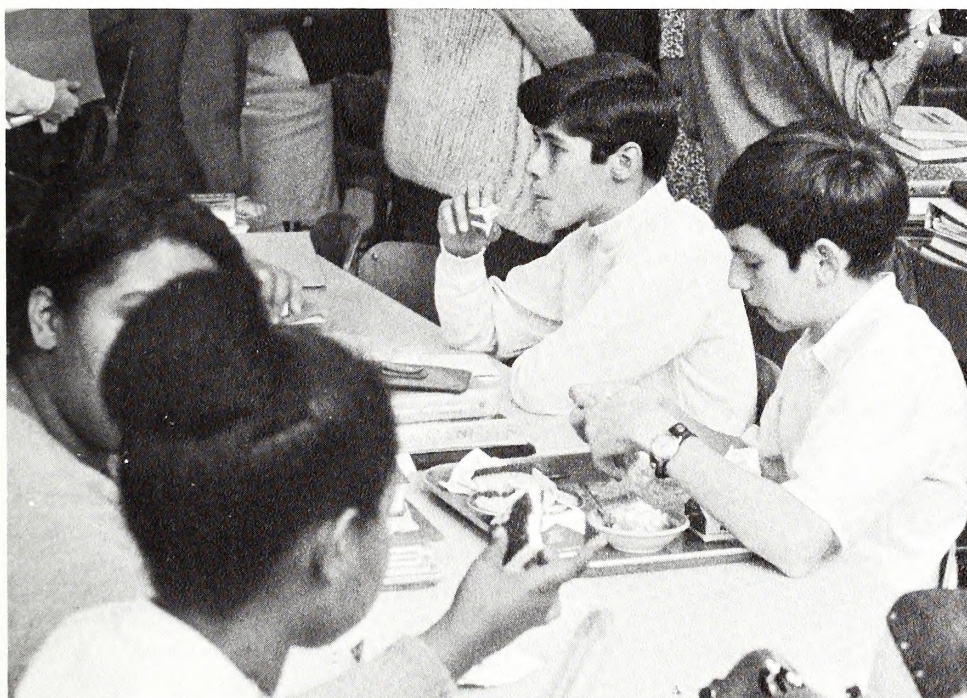

Spring finalized the year. It was almost commencement for the seniors and almost prom time for the juniors. Many people were nostalgic; many were gleeful. Everyone was busy. Some got ready for college and starting again as freshmen, some for another year at Shortridge and some for numerous other adventures.

Slashing through another defense, Shortridge gridmen converge on the hapless Marshall ball-carrier.

From Football Fun to Classroom Work

SHS Gains European Trio

Rolf Ehrenberg's foreign fingers fly over the frets.

Three exchange students, Paul Eroukhmanoff, Rolf Ehrenberg, and Helmut Giese, entered Shortridge on September 4, 1968.

Paul, from Paris, France, lived with sophomore Tom Streeter and his family. His happy face, surrounded by many friends, was seen at most athletic events.

Helmut, whose American family were the John S. Schechters, hailed from West Berlin, Germany. He quickly established himself as a "good guy" at Shortridge.

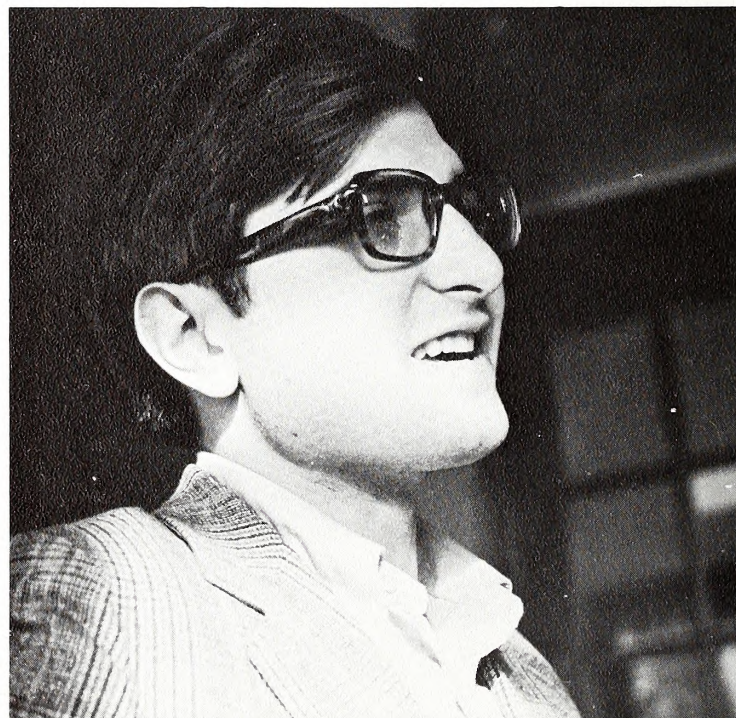

Rolf, the Swedish exchange student, had no Shortridge brothers and sisters. He lived with Father Hadley the Provost of Saint Richard's School. Rolf was very active and interested in Shortridge's Student Council and with the problems in which it dealt.

Of course, changing one's language, family, and friends for a year creates some problems. Teaching and testing methods were different, not to mention teachers and students themselves.

Paul was sponsored by the American Field Service and Rolf and Helmut were sent by Youth for Understanding. Both programs have been sending students to Shortridge for several years. This has enabled Shortridge students to go abroad and represent their country and school.

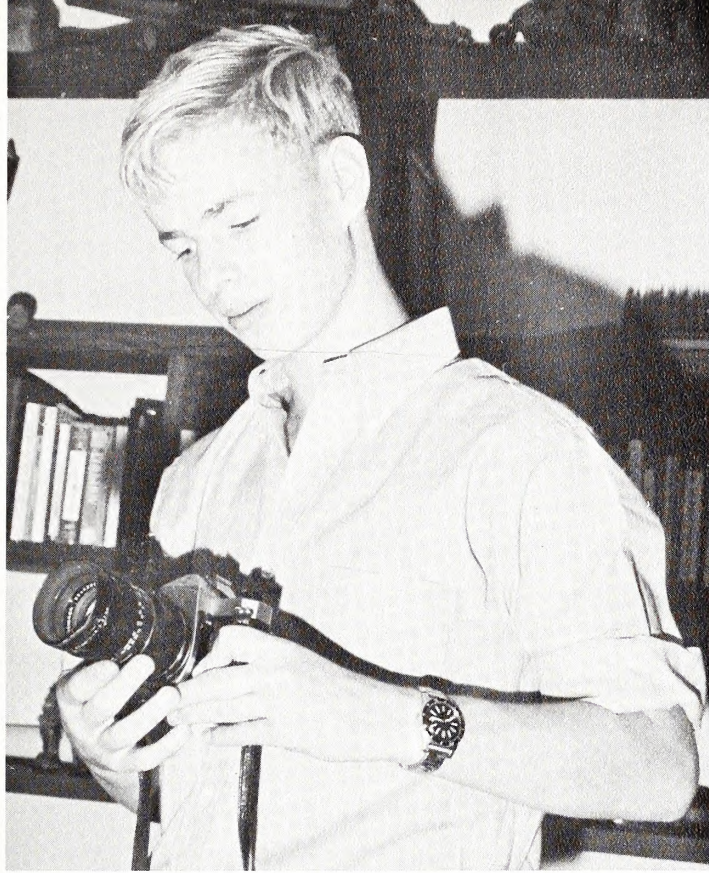

Shortridge exchange students compare impressions of the USA.

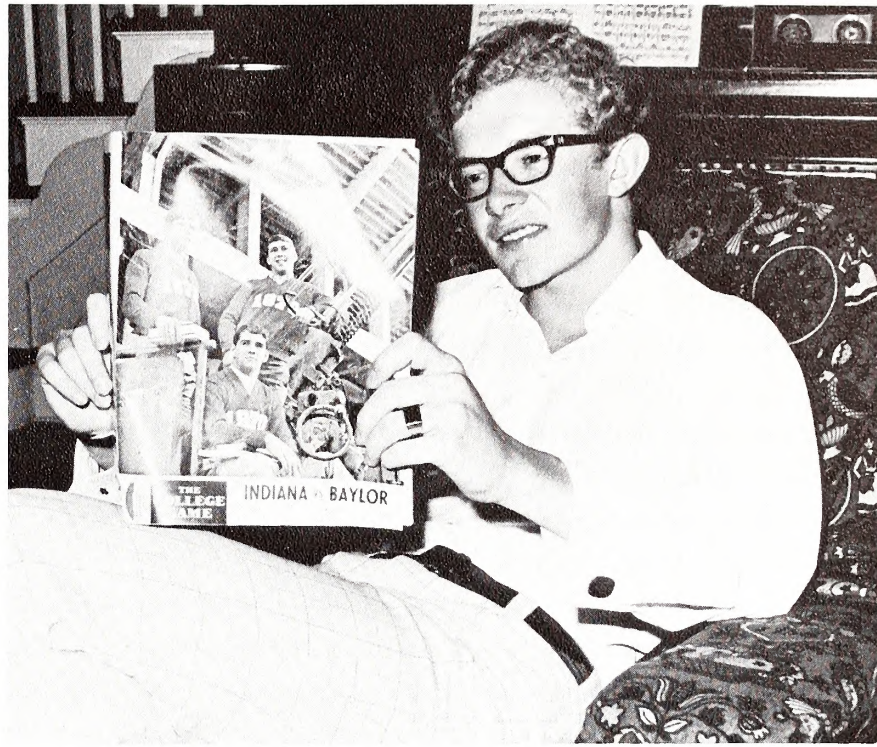

Paul Eroukhmanoff can enjoy an American joke as well as anyone.

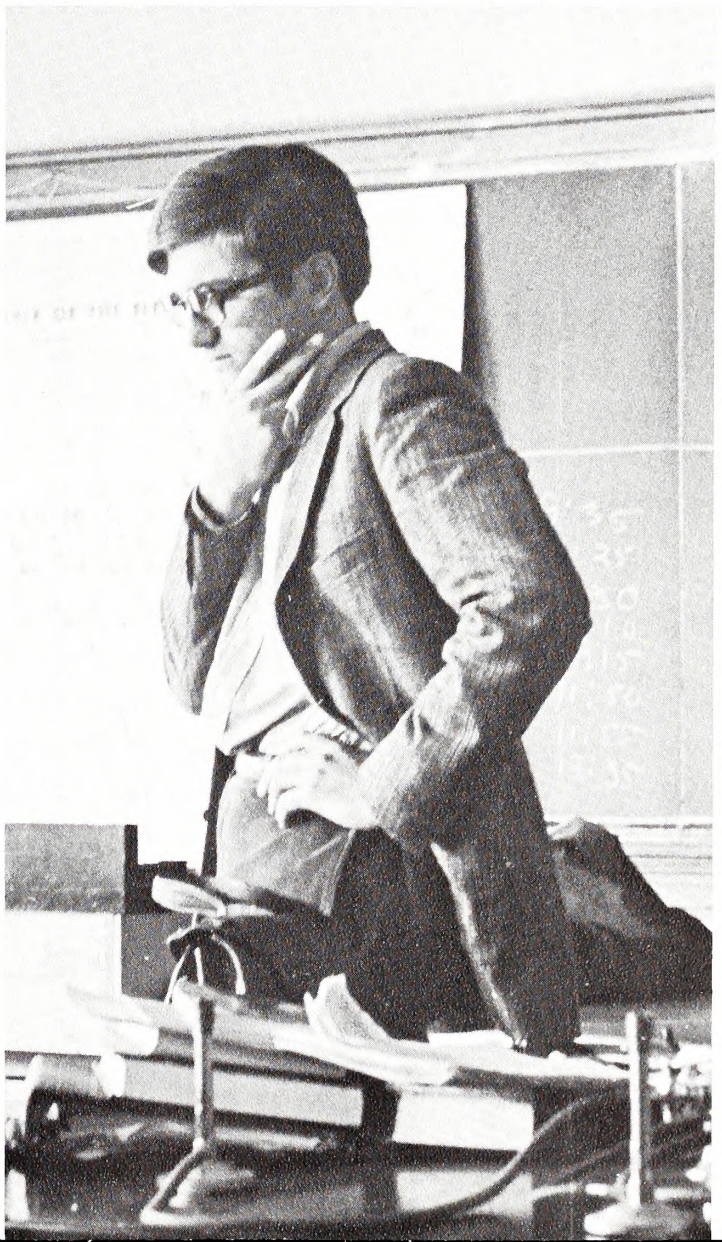

Rolf brought his hobby along with him when he came to Shortridge.

Helmut Giese sits back and reviews a college football game.

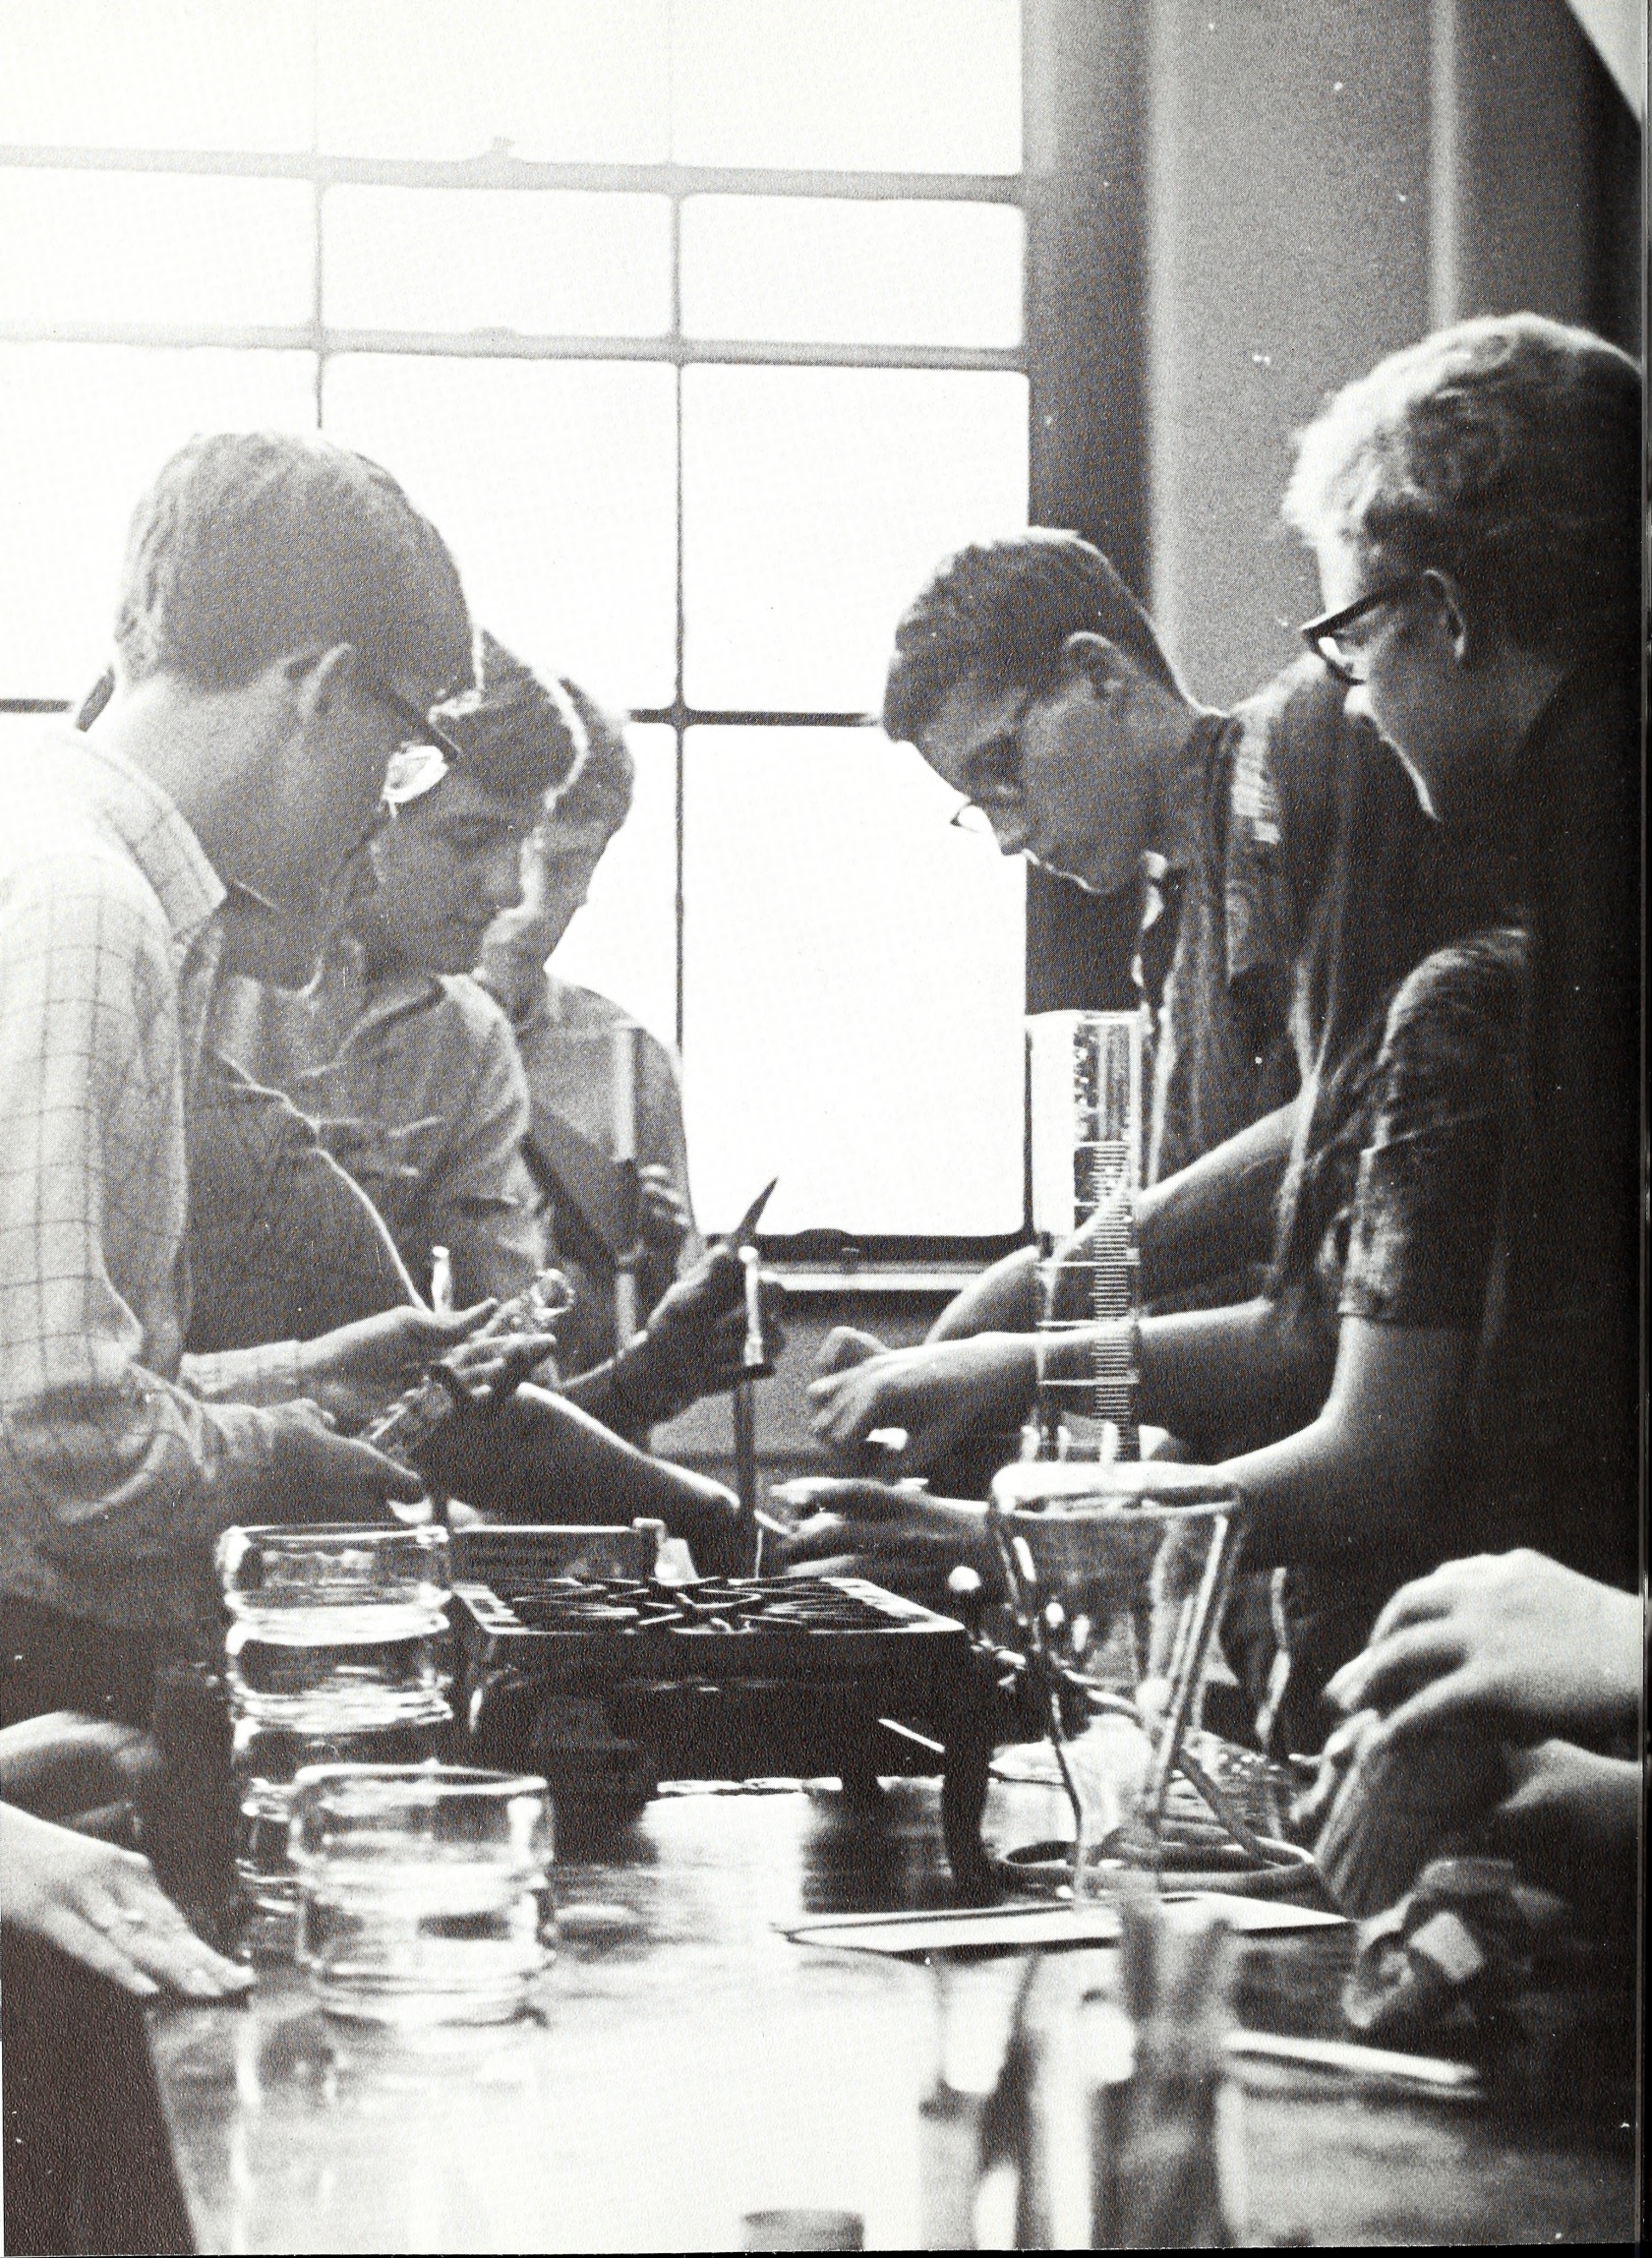

Helmut eyes a football suspiciously before punting.

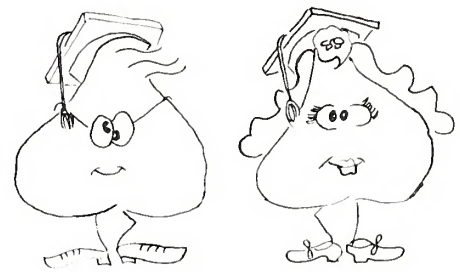

Paul ponders his hobby, chess.

The more than one hundred and thirty courses offered by the eleven Shortridge departments emphasized the importance of an education in today's society and gave the student many choices between required subjects and courses designed for the extension of the individuals special interests. The Shortridge student strived for excellence in all his work, whether it was in school or out of school. In school the Shortridger wanted to learn more than the bare facts of a subject, he wanted to know the extra facts that make a course exciting.

This task fell upon the teachers. They also were responsible for building good character in the people that will make Shortridge famous in years to come. It was teachers and students who helped to make Shortridge the school it is, a progressive school, a school of people.

Academics

English Curriculum Adds New Course

Miss Wells, head of the English Department, helped coordinate the new English-History course. This course combined American Literature and American History, to show the close relationship between the two. Each day, the students involved attended a lecture where films, panel discussions and guest speakers were presented.

Shortridge started its freshmen writing the day they entered school and never allowed them to stop. As sophomores, they tried vocational themes and as seniors, they wrote term papers. In English VII and IX students polished their creative writing.

Those interested in literature are not neglected completely. Students can study such famous books as Beowulf and Canterbury Tales to compare their styles. Advanced students explore all phases of the writings of such great authors as Shakespeare and Chaucer.

Poring over their books, SHS students spend time quietly studying in the library.

English class watches the teacher make another assignment.

Jonnie Laster ponders freshman grammar book problems.

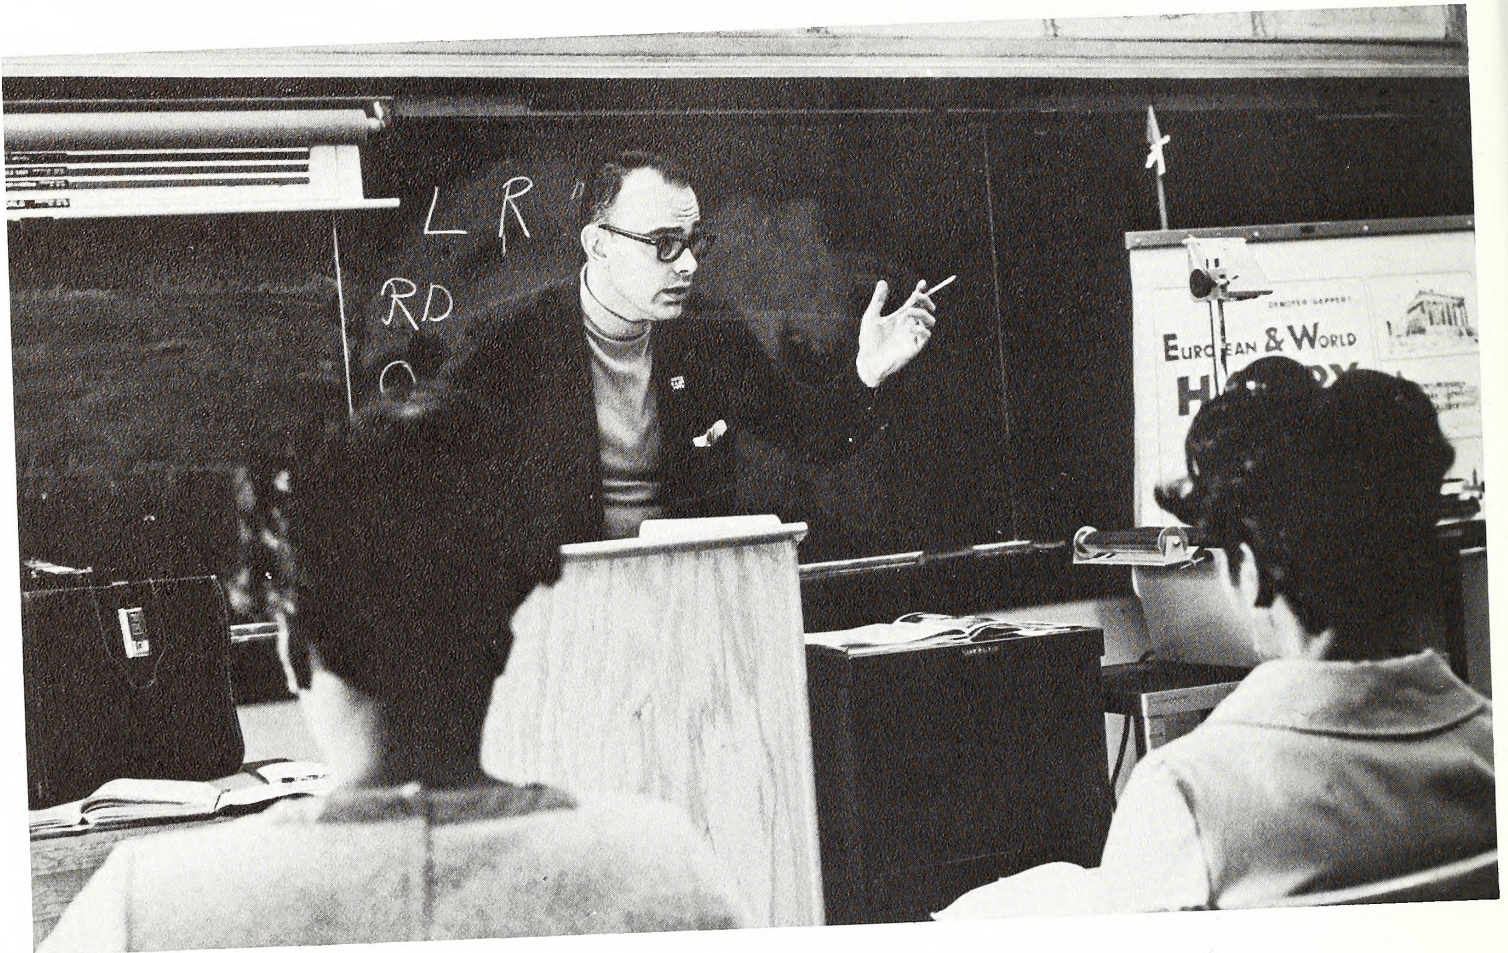

Alice Grider and Helmut Giese "emote" for a dramatics class.

History Is Taught With Special Twist

Complete attention is given to the facts in Mr. Morgan's economics class.

Mr. Henderson's small discussion groups promote better understanding of psychology.

With English Literature Included

The study of history was as up-to-date as tomorrow for students of Shortridge. Under the leadership of Mr. Thomas Paine, the department offered a series of courses which gave detail to the past and provided insight for the future.

A major in history was offered on a three year plan. The freshman student was taught world history for a greater understanding of the beginnings of mankind.

Juniors were absorbed in an intensive study of United States History, while seniors learned the workings of their government and economic system.

This year a new method of teaching US History was presented. The course involved three daily periods, one of lectures and presentations in the auditorium, one of study in the reference room, and one in a conversational session alternating from English to US History.

For further study, students took such courses as Psychology and International Relations to better their knowledge of today's world.

Note taking and student participation keep students busy in Mr. Burch's government class.

Mr. Hanlin takes notes with students as pupil gives presentation.

Foreign Language Broadened Learning

Russian was added to the foreign language department with Mr. Soerensen as instructor.

For interested students, the Shortridge Language Department opened many doors of opportunity. Facilities in the language lab gave students practice in both speaking and comprehension. Dedicated teachers stressed the understanding of the customs and attitudes of different countries as an important aspect in the study of a foreign language.

Advanced Russian came to Shortridge for the first time last year. The department also offered advanced courses in Spanish, French, German, Latin and Greek. Students in Latin and Greek Derivatives expanded their knowledge of the English vocabulary and their own.

The I.U. Honors program was encouraged for third year students in Spanish, French, German or Latin. Traveling to a foreign country, and living there, gave the student a better knowledge of the language and culture of a different people.

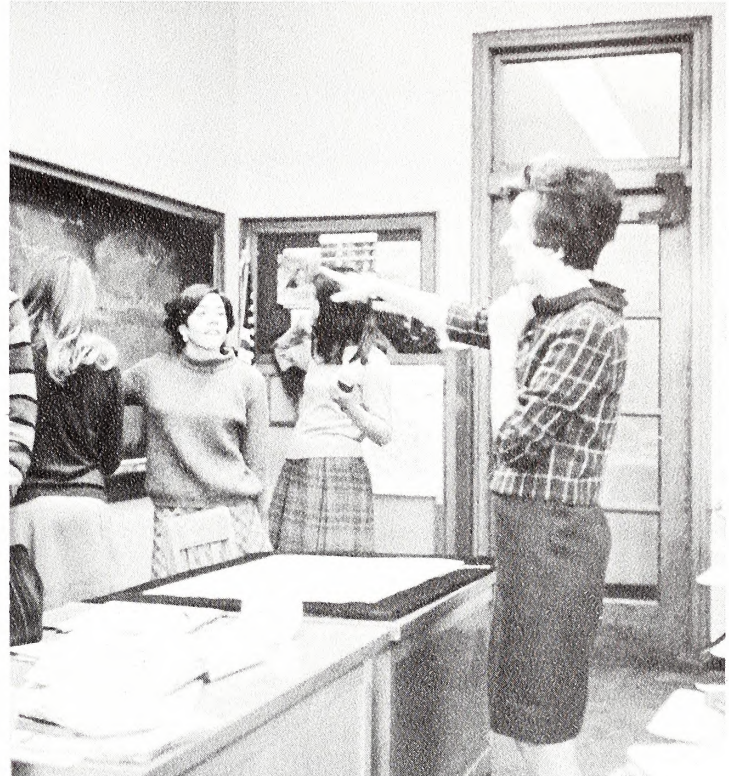

Language lab students listened to the teacher instruct them in the proper pronunciation.

Foreign Culture Added Spice to Life

French students ponder an interesting assignment in class.

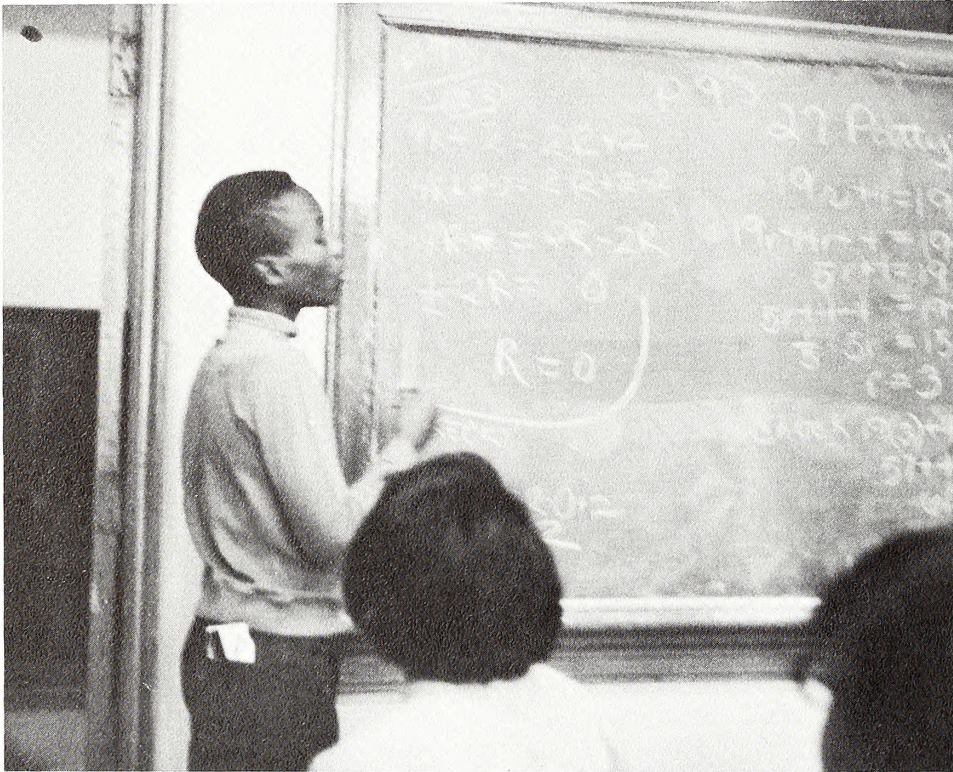

Mrs. Inman directs students who are working on sentence constructions.

Romance language students debate on the location of some famous European landmarks.

Equations, Theorems, Differentials

John Randolph, algebra student, explains to the class how he has worked a single variable equation.

From the simplest form of mathematics to the most complex calculus, the math department tried to perpetuate an interest in its subject area. The department accomplished this goal through tutoring programs, special debates and guest speakers.

Advanced math students gave up free periods to tutor troubled students.

The department offered a wide variety of courses, among them were general math, five semesters of algebra, plane geometry, trigonometry, and two semesters of calculus.

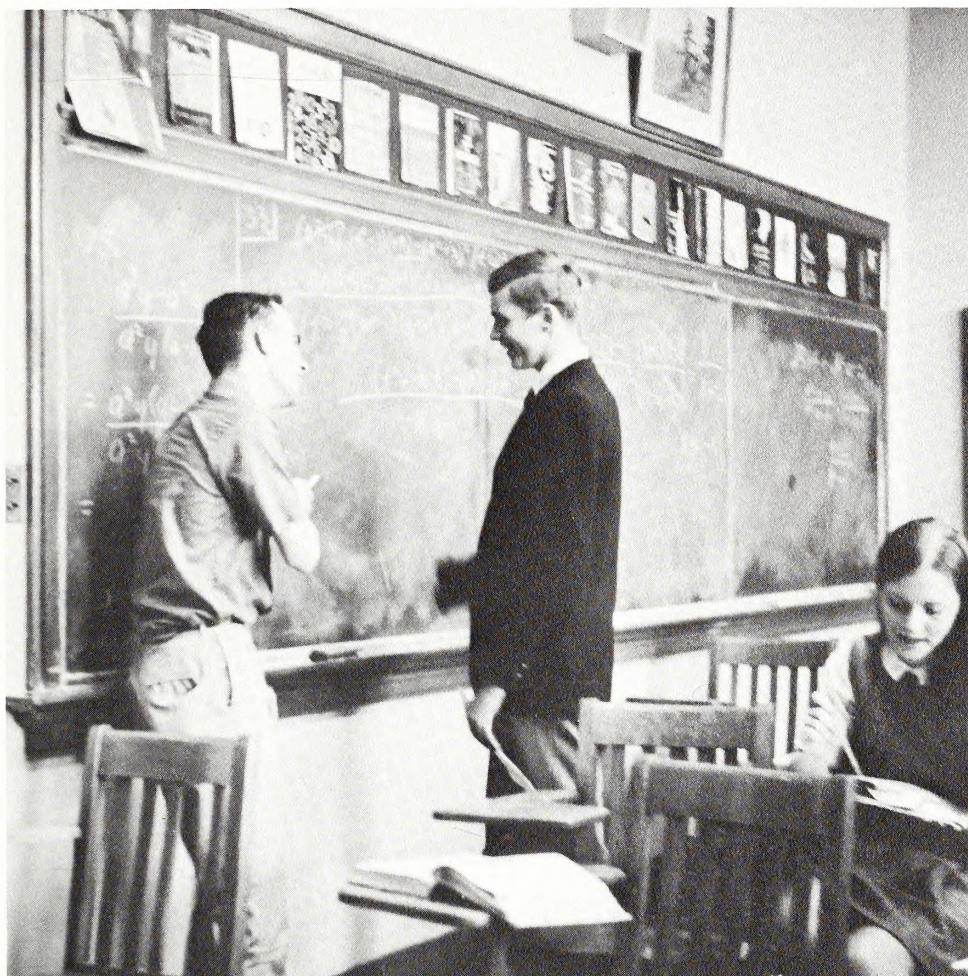

Many new methods of presenting the required material were also developed to assist in giving the student the basics necessary for the course. Films and overhead projectors were used to stress important ideas, as well as numerous other techniques.

Miss Wahl instructs one of her mathematics classes in the fundamentals algebra.

Present Difficulty to All Beginners

Algebra III students John Batuello and Randy Strand debate the merits of completing the square versus the quadratic formula for finding the roots of an equation.

Cheryl Zike discovers the solution to a perplexing Geometry I problem.

Mr. William Gibson, head of the Mathematics Department, was observed testing his Algebra II class.

Diversified Courses Offer Aspiring

Checking a lab report, Mrs. Gelb points out calculation errors.

Some sophomores enjoy the morbid task of dissecting frogs and fetal pigs. Others prefer hunting insects or drawing flowers. The Shortridge court provides an excellent floral display and also a good place to find insects. In the greenhouse the students can observe the many phases of plant life. Dr. Richards, biology teacher, was in charge of both the court and the greenhouse.

Shortridge offers four semesters of biology including microbiology and two semesters each of botany and zoology. Science department head Mr. Black is in charge of the chemistry and physics as well as biological courses.

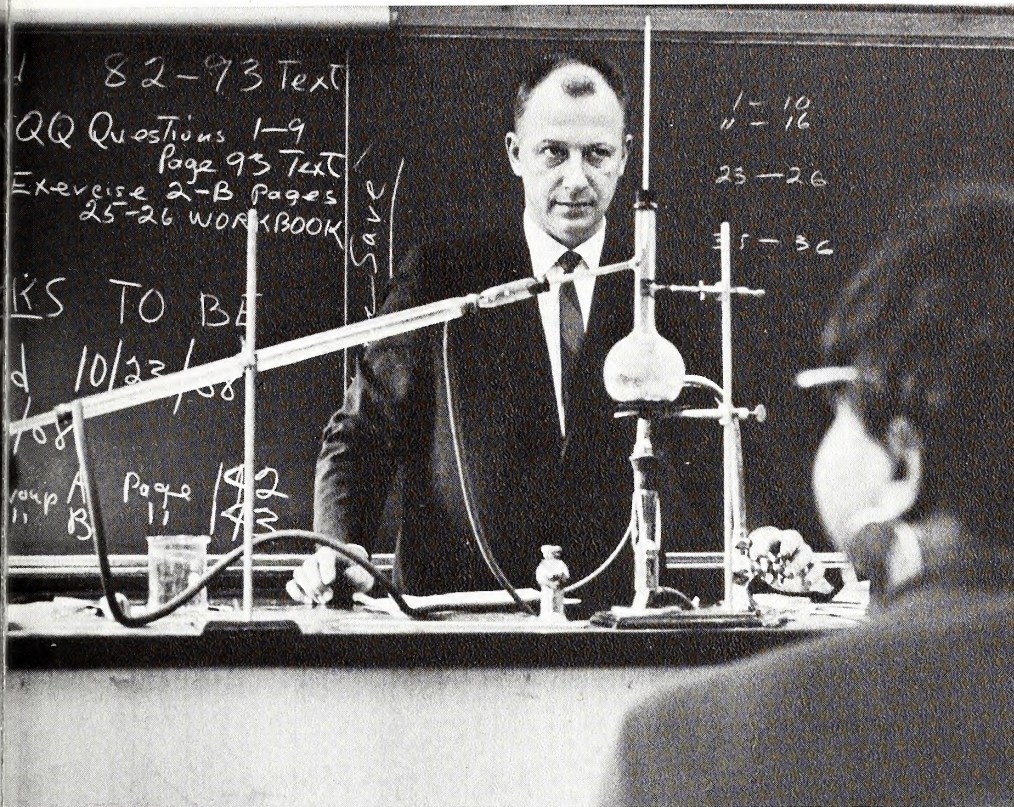

In chemistry the student learns the basics of analysis and atomic theory. If one wants to explore chemistry beyond this basic, he may take Chemistry III and elementary physics together.

Mr. Baker explains the difficult processes of meiosis and mitosis to a biology class.

Scientists Opportunity for Future

Mr. Studebaker demonstrates an experiment in science to his class as Mary Weddle watches.

Jill Kooiker watches as Ilze Kurins checks a slide in Jill's microscope.

Artists Skills Offer Service- Benefit School

The Shortridge High School Art Department students were encouraged to participate in a wide variety of media, with emphasis placed on craftsmanship and creativity. Courses such as Commercial Art I and II were offered. For the more advanced students, Art III-VIII was offered as a two-period course. Both novice and advanced students were given the opportunity to develop potential talent as a stimulus to career and vocational possibilities in art after graduation.

But the art student is not confined to the classroom alone. The various school organizations benefited as art students put their creative abilities to work—from producing posters and refinishing the busts located in the Charity Dye Library to designing covers for the Christmas Echo and Junior Vaudeville programs.

Through the Fine Arts Department the SHS Art Department maintains the Roda Selleck Art Gallery and purchases excellent paintings for the school classrooms.

Susie Bradakis finds the Roda Selleck Gallery just the place to practice her drawing.

James Rickman proves poster painting is a part of the art department's service to the school.

Thom Waldo shows how art students get up in the air to help school activities.

Mrs. Siegel helps Sandy O'Bannion with a difficult problem in a business course.

Mrs. Keehn observes while Gayle Thorn practices an assignment in typing class.

Business Study Offers Chance for a Success

Business at Shortridge was supervised by Arthur G. Shull, Vice-Principal in charge of the business and financial affairs of the school. Mr. Shull, who also acted as head of the Business Department this year, was assisted by five other business education teachers.

Most phases of business were offered at Shortridge. Courses such as bookkeeping, business arithmetic, general business, business law, data processing, typing, and shorthand were available to interested students.

A shorthand laboratory was made accessible to future stenographers. This laboratory aided students in the development of the techniques of stenography. Lab members would write in shorthand the dictation given on the tapes in the lab. Later they typed it into format form. In all; the finished student was ready to face the world of work.

Sterling Powell polishes his typing skills to help him gain future employment.

Healthy & Safe, SHS Pupils Are

Health and Safety, a one credit course, provided more than just a basic background for establishing health habits necessary for future living. Personal health care was studied by the students, who also received tuberculin tests, physicals and dental examinations. Physiology opened up new doors for many, and for others it gave a deeper understanding of the human body.

Fifteen-year-olds developed both physically and mentally in Driver's Education. While coordination and courtesy as a driver were emphasized, further training in the areas of safety and first aid were pursued in the classroom. Meeting daily at the east end of the cafeteria, students headed out for a period of instruction in dual control cars provided by Northside Chrysler-Plymouth. Aiding individual students in increasing their driving skills were instructors Mr. Paul Dill, Mr. James Hill and Mr. Joe Tofil.

Mr. Joe Tofil and his driving students arrive back at Shortridge after a driving session in heavy traffic.

Barb Smith and Matt Akard debate an important point during an open-class discussion in Health and Safety class.

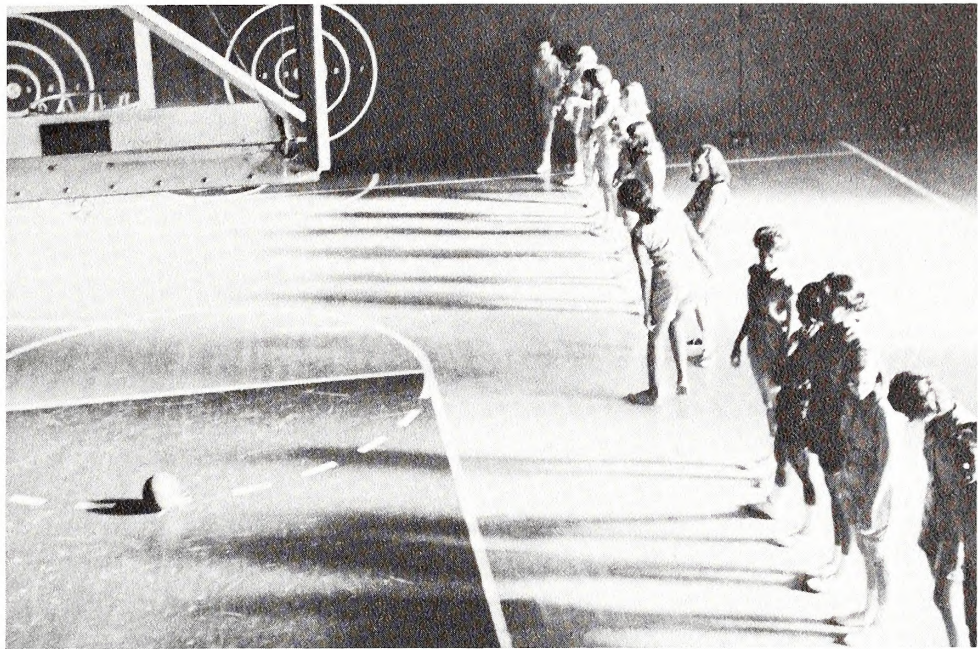

The Physical Education Department at Shortridge tried to help students become more efficient at work or at play. This efficiency was the result of good physical conditioning.

The first thing every day was a series of calisthenics to warm the students up for the day's activities. Boys learned the basic skills needed in sports, such as basketball, wrestling, football, gymnastics, and baseball. For the girls, the basic skills included dance steps and movements, gymnastics, and some sports skills.

Many times in the spring when the weather was nice, both gym classes could be found on the football field putting their improved skills into action.

The classes were led by Mr. Tom Woods, for the boys, and Miss Caryl Gaines, for the girls. Miss Gaines is also in charge of all three cheerleading squads.

In December, 42 senior girls took the Betty Crocker Search for the Homemaker of Tomorrow Test sponsored by General Mills. This test was given for the purpose of stimulating girls to an awareness of the importance of homemaking, and the dignity and prestige of the American home.

The Silversmiths of America presented a Sterling Silver place setting to the highest ranking girl who majored in Home Economics.

The Business Award was presented to the girl with the highest rank in the Home Economics Department and with the highest rank academically in the school.

In the spring, a fashion show was presented for the purpose of exhibiting the handiwork of the students and to give them the opportunity to learn poise, modeling, and grace.

Pans and Pins for the Homemakers

A little "book work" keeps pots and pans empty occasionally.

Vocational Skills Lead to Employment

The recently acquired new wing of the school dedicated to the industrial arts provided this area with facilities for learning many different types of industry crafts.

These crafts were applied daily in such areas as Graphic Arts, which printed The Echo, plus programs and calendars for various school activities and organizations. The actual printing of The Echo is done completely by students.

The Wood Shop turned out everything from bookends to bookcases.

Plastics, one of the nation's fastest growing industries, was represented by the many students who were involved in learning the craftsmanship of this type of industry.

The Metal Shop taught students almost everything they would need to know to become a member of the labor force in heavy industry.

From the fourth floor one could daily hear the sounds of classical music during the second and sixth periods as the A Cappella Choir and the Madrigal Singers prepared for concerts.

The Madrigal Singers performed light, gay sixteenth and seventeenth century madrigals, the popular music of the period. The 15-voice group, girls wearing long blue formals, and the boys in black suits, found themselves most in demand during the Christmas season, when they performed for thirty holiday audiences.

The A Cappella spent the year preparing for its annual school concert.

The Choral Benefit featured the Preble-Guy Duo and the Choral Classic featured a difficult Bach piece.

Music Men leaned close together to sing as a fifteen member barbershop "quartet."

Attired in gray wool dresses, the 16 member Girls' Ensemble entertained audiences with their lively interpretations of such Broadway hits as "On The Street Where You Live" and "Step to the Rear." The Music Men, wearing blue blazers, set audiences chuckling with a 16- man "Barbershop Quartet" singing "Sincere" and started fingers snap- ping with current favorites "Goin' Out Of My Head" and "What Now My Love."

A new performing group was added to the Music Department roster this year in the form of the Choral Club. This 55 member, all- girl organization was made pri- marily of sophomores, who were, ac- cording to Mr. Preble, being heavily counted upon for future appearances.

In addition to auditoriums, their schedules included outside perfor- mances and the P.T.A. Christmas program. High Point of the year was an appearance on the WFBM Christ- mas Show.

Small Band Ensembles Performed

The Pit Orchestra, under the direction of Mr. Thomas Preble, Music Department Head, is now in its second year. Since last year, when it played in the Junior Vaudeville, it has expanded its activities, playing with the cast of the full-length musical, Bye Bye Birdie.

Tackling the difficult music of Bye Bye Birdie was a challenging job for the 20-piece group. But, through diligence and much sacrifice of time, the organization helped make the school musical into a success.

The Pit Orchestra is composed of selected members of the orchestra, band, and this year Mr. Randall Ware, former student teacher from I.U., who helped on the drums.

The Shortridge High School Stage Band, formed this year, played a variety of musical arrangements. Under the direction of Mr. Leonard Behling, the 14-piece group operated on an informal basis. Compositions ranging from standard "big band" hits to the "soul" tunes were tried and performed by this group.

Since it is in its beginning stage, the bulk of its time was spent "sight-reading" music, obtained primarily from school music files. Stage Band membership was determined by audition.

At an early morning rehearsal Band members paused to hear Stephan Hall play a solo.

The Orchestra, led by Mr. John Medjeski, worked countless hours practicing for its appearances throughout the school year. New music was diligently tackled by the group.

The Senior Class Play benefited as the orchestra played intermission music. Later the orchestra participated in the PTA Christmas Music Program and Auditorium, concentrating on three compositions. The school orchestra appeared at the Annual Orchestra Auditorium in April. As has been its custom for several years, the orchestra entered into ISMA competition.

The marching band, led by Mr. Leonard Behling, entered its season in brand new uniforms. Members braved the cold morning rehearsals necessary for the ambitious schedule they had set up. The band helped instill sideline spirit during football games, pep sessions, and entertainment during half time. The Band demonstrated its musical talent at the annual Sweaterman's Concert. The organization proudly represented Shortridge as it marched in the Veteran's Day and 500 Memorial Parades.

Precision Drills Help ROTC Skills

The Shortridge ROTC included all forms of military skills. The Drill Team could often be found practicing in the morning at 7:30 A.M. in front of school, adding new movements to their precision drill.

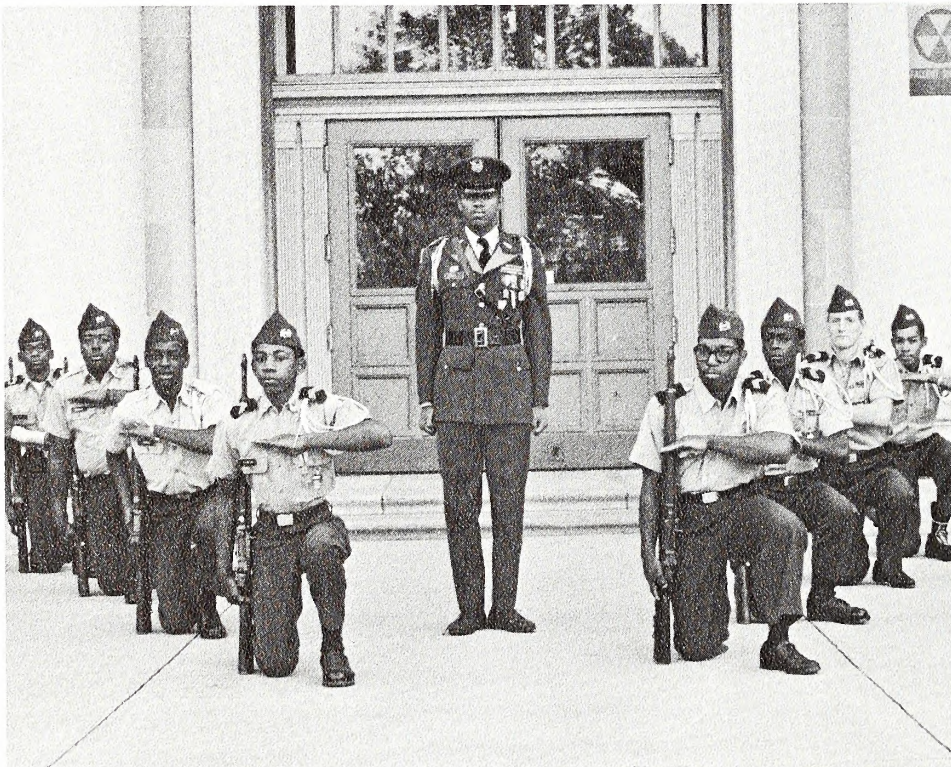

The Rifle Team as well as the Color Guard and the Mortar Squad, a newly formed organization to demonstrate mortar fire under combat conditions, worked hard to perform efficiently for both visitors and the student body during the Annual Federal Inspection in the fall.

The Inspection also gave awards to outstanding cadets of the year. Commandant M-Sgt Jerome Baker was in charge of the battalion.

The cadets looked forward to the annual Military Ball held in March.

M-Sgt Jerome Baker instructed a class in the art of map reading.

DRILL TEAM: c/M-Sgt Robert Miller, c/S-Sgt Bishop Dotson, c/PFC William Harris, c/S-Sgt James Fountain, Commander Major Edwin Jones, c/S-Sgt Cornelius Chandler, c/S-Sgt George Tyson, c/S-Sgt Don Wiggins, and c/Cor David Perry.

Bishop Dotson and Edwin Jones acted as honor guard for Shortridge Day ceremonies.

Forty Years at Present Shortridge

Mr. Joel Hadley, former Shortridge principal, stands at attention as the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag is given.

Shortridge Day, December 2, commemorated the moving of Shortridge from its old site at the corner of Pennsylvania and Michigan Streets in 1928.

A flag raising was attended by students, faculty and retired teachers. Retired Shortridge teachers were then invited to a morning coffee in Mr. Schultz' office. Teachers attending were: Miss Dorothy Dipple, Miss Josephine Lee, Miss Margaret B. Pierson, Mrs. Ann Oertle, Theodore Van Voorhees, Mrs. Gertrude Weathers, and Miss Trella Wood.

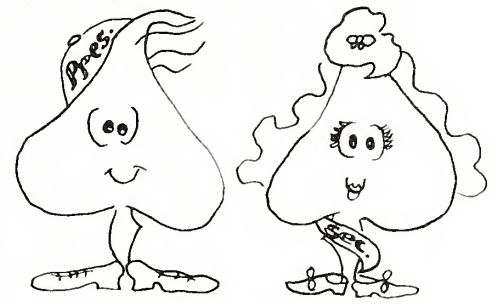

In the auditorium Mr. Joel W. Hadley, former Shortridge principal and biology teacher, told about "moving day". Mayor Richard Lugar, a 1950 Shortridge graduate, spoke on the Shortridge Day theme, "Moving on Up."

The Echo came out in a special edition featuring stories published in 1928 concerning the "New Shortridge" and pictures of the five "Shortridges" of the past.

Shortridge has many school sponsored activities to help the students develop socially. These many activities involve faculty and students alike. The Shortridger has a wide variety of activities to choose from. Almost every interest can be met in some activity. Faculty members sponsor the clubs and plays. The plays are put on for the students, faculty and people outside of the school. Clubs are involved in projects helping the school and community.

Plays and clubs make Shortridge what it is—a school of activities—a school of people.

Activities

People, people and more people filled the new Annual office in room 123 every day. Some were students, others were Annual staff members, and usually in the crowd were the new advisor, Mr. Robert Houston, and Editor Sandy James.

Piles of pictures, sheets of copy and layouts cluttered the Annual Office daily. Photographers could be seen snapping the hundreds of pictures necessary to put out the Annual. Often Saturdays and holidays found struggling staff members working for the last deadline.

Finally the last deadline came and was finished. Workers waited for proofs to be checked and then came the finished book. The book arrived late in the Spring Semester. Shortridgers had received their 1969 Annual.

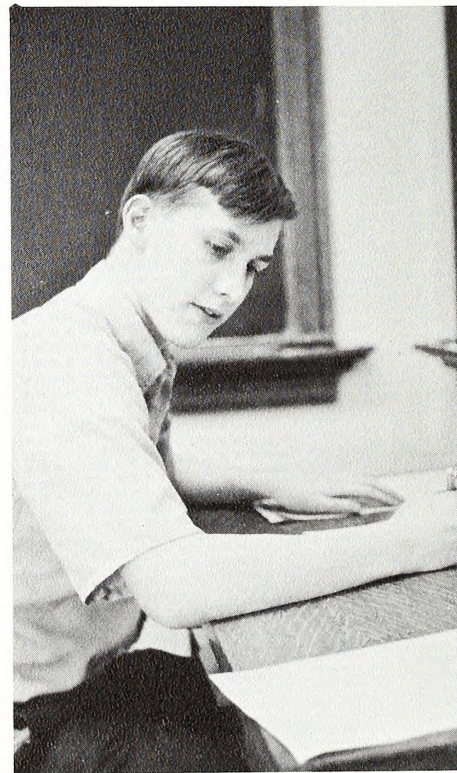

Late in the Spring, pictures taken by the yearbook photographers during the year, were sold.

Deadlines—Deadlines—Deadlines—the staffs of the Daily Echo were always working to meet their deadlines in order to put to press the oldest of the world's five daily high school papers.

The seven separate staffs, one for each day, a sports staff and a photography staff, worked under the watchful eye of Miss Jean Grubb and their separate student editors. The editors were responsible for not only checking the copy four times, but also saw that all the articles were in on time, laid out the pages and wrote headlines.

Many students wrote weekly columns, as well as numerous articles and features, to fill the four page paper.

The Echo's circulation included everyone at Shortridge High School, many other high schools which exchanged with Shortridge, and alumni and parents of Shortridge.

WORK, WORK, WORK—Miss Jean Grubb works to get tomorrow's ECHO ready for "bed".

Top Books Produce a Top Mind

The Great Books Club was formed to introduce students to the classics of literature. It was divided into two sections: Freshman-Sophomore Great Books and Junior-Senior Great Books.

Meeting in the homes of members, the juniors and seniors delved into man of literature's best known works, such as "Antigone". They analysed these literary classics and discussed the style and purpose of the author in writing them.

Freshmen and sophomores held their meetings in school during the ninth period. This year they read such works as "The Tempest" by Shakespeare and Huxley's "Brave New World." They also read two of Shakespeare's comedies, "Gideon" and "The Patriots".

Mrs. Ruth Pallar was sponsor of both of these groups.

Paperbacks and Cultures Discussed

"To read and discuss paperbacks" is the purpose of the Campus Book Club. Besides the many books that were read, the club had several projects during the year. Candy canes along with Christmas cards were sold to raise money for a planned trip in the Spring to the birth place of a famous author. Plans were also made to attend stage plays and tour a city known for authors and literary works.

The International Exchange Club, formerly known as the AFS Club, changed its name in order to include all students who were on a foreign exchange program.

It was organized to help students gain understanding and appreciation of the American way of life, as well as the cultures of other countries. The club encouraged members to apply for the various exchange programs offered at Shortridge. Many members planned to travel abroad on the American Field Service, IU Honors Program, or Youth for Understanding teenage exchange programs.

Key Club Lent Hand to Central State

Working to better the Indianapolis community, the Shortridge Key Club has been involved in a number of service projects this past year.

Most notable, Key Club has rendered its aid and service to Central State Hospital where members performed a number of odd jobs. Movies were shown to patients on Mondays and Tuesdays and several rooms in the children's ward were painted.

Helping in the campaign to sell Christmas Seals, members distributed tuberculosis posters throughout the Indianapolis community. The colorful posters were hung in store windows on a Saturday morning late in November.

Last summer the Key Club sent a sizeable delegation to the International Key Club Convention in Montreal.

Rounding out the year, a number of the Shortridge Key Club attended the Indiana State Key Club Convention downtown. The weekend event highlighted Key Club's activities during the year.

Steering the Key Club to success are David Bradshaw (Pres.), Sam Test (Sec.), Steve Lawrence (V. Pres.) and Allen Carroll (Treas.)

True Blue Served the Dean of Girls;

GIRLS' LEAGUE OFFICERS—Kathy Shricker (Pres.), Sheri Wilson (V-Pres.), Kathie Demas (Treas.), Leila Redlich (Sec.)

Girls' League, under the guidance of Miss Rose Ella King, was the Shortridge girls' service organization. It provided the chance for girls to get to know one another. In the fall, Girls' League sponsored a party for freshmen girls.

Girls' League members donated toys by the dozen to the children's Ward at Central State Hospital. Also the members proved their salesmanship skills through ticket sales for "Bye Bye Birdie" and memberships for the Children's Museum.

Ever-changing Girls' League came up with a shifting of the membership rules so that every girl would be eligible for Girls' League in the future.

True Blue was an organization at Shortridge composed of girls who worked in the Dean of Girls' office. These twelve girls spent at least one period in the office. Under their jurisdiction was the lost and found department and they did other general office work for Miss Rose Ella King, Dean of Girls.

Miss Rose Ella King and Sheri Wilson discuss plans for future Girls' League meetings.

FTA With Red Cross Serve SHS

Future Teachers of America had a busy year. FTA was created to show interested high school students a little bit about teaching and to aid the growth of interest in the teaching profession.

Led by Mrs. Hillman, the FTA meetings often had teachers for guest speakers. Student teachers also presented talks and panel discussions were held by the high school students in the cadet teaching program.

The Red Cross Club served the public. Stemming from the National Red Cross, this group worked in local hospitals and aided needy families. This provided excellent training for students interested in the medical field as a profession. As always, the Red Cross Club made packets for the Annual Red Cross Drive. The organization was under the leadership of Mrs. Margaret Miller.

Speakers Spark History Club Year

Under the leadership of Mrs. Elsie Howard, sponsor, and a full complement of officers, the History Club provided a sounding board for juniors and seniors interested in all aspects of Social Studies. At the club's bi-monthly meetings guest speakers provided "jumping off" places for various historical discussions.

In addition to its more serious activities, the History Club held a number of social events during the year. Of these the one that members looked forward to was the annual Bridey Murphey Party. Held in the late fall, the party was attended by club members dressed as historical personages.

As one of Shortridge's oldest clubs, the History Club has, through the years, maintained high standards of membership. All prospective members were required to submit historical outlines and maintain a B average in history. If accepted, the new member was initiated in a formal ceremony and pledged to live up to the Club's motto: "Make History Every Day."

Journalists Sold Mums, Held Dinner

The A. J. Kettler Chapter of Quill and Scroll, honorary student journalism organization, began this years activities with its annual chrysanthemum sale on the day of the final football game.

During the yuletide season, the organization took charge of the subscription for the Christmas Echo.

Quill and Scroll conducted two initiations, after applicants had met the requirements. The student must have contributed at least 360 inches to the Echo or have been recommended by the Annual sponsor for membership. He must also be a junior or senior in the upper third of his class and be approved by the national secretary of Quill and Scroll.

The late January initiation took place in the library, and was highlighted by a prominent guest speaker.

The big festivity of the year was the spring Annual Awards Day Banquet. Members, family and friends were greeted with attractive table decorations and a dinner served by the girls of the Home Economics department.

Photogs, Radio Club Have Big Year

1969 marked the birth of a new SHS organization—The Photography Club. Complete with Constitution, a good-sized membership, sponsor and available funds, the club was active from the start.

The school administration re-activated the former publications darkroom for the use of club members.

Organized and led by Anthony Christian, president, and Steve Lawrence, vice-president, important speakers appeared at almost every club meeting. The technical aspects of photography were discussed and film strips were shown. A display was maintained part of the year in the foyer showing examples of member's photographic art.

The Radio Club was organized to help members receive a novice or operators license for a ham radio set. Field trips were taken and seminars held to demonstrate the newest trends in radio design and radio equipment.

There are three math clubs at Shortridge. The Hi Pi Club, which is open to first and second year math students, introduced new mathematical phrases to its members. To qualify for Math Club, the student must be enrolled in Geometry II or above, and must have a C average in math. Being a member of Hi Pi for one year allows the pupil automatically to join the Math Club. If the student wasn't in Hi Pi, he could write a research paper on some mathematical topic of his choice to gain membership. Mu Alpha Theta, the National Math Society, is composed of only those pupils capable of meeting the rigid National requirements of being in Alg. III or above, having a B+ average in preceding math courses and a B average overall.

The sponsors of all three clubs were Miss Ellen Ocker and Miss Lucille Wahl.

Knowledge and Abilities

The Shortridge "Quiz Kids" for the year 1968-1969 were Dan Carr, Bill Fatout, Joe Ingraham and John Eble. This was the year for the team to sit out the Exercise in Knowledge tournament. Instead they participated in the High School Bowl. The Shortridge "Quiz Kids" matched their knowledge and quick recall with Howe High School only to lose in a very close match. The team name was changed from the Exercise in Knowledge team to the High School Bowl team this year to match the tourney in which they participated.

The team worked with questions submitted from the various Shortridge classes concerning the subject of the class. They also challenged the Shortridge clubs to knowledge matches. Mrs. Constance Kirby sponsored the group.

"The Circle" Clubs for Knowledge

El Circulo Espanol was open to all students in Spanish I through IV. The club, sponsored by Mrs. Virginia Graham, sought to broaden the students knowledge of customs and habits of people in the Spanish speaking countries.

Films and slides of Spain and Mexico enabled students to become acquainted with the people and their living conditions.

For Shortridge French students, Le Cercle Francais offered many beneficial activities. The students learned about the lives and social customs of the French through activities such as the French Christmas Party.

Both clubs conducted meetings in their language in order to improve techniques.

Clubs for Journalists, Strategists

Coming out of the State Chess Meet with a second place, the Shortridge Chess Team brought many honors to itself and the school. The team was chosen from the members of the Chess Club. The Chess Club, sponsored by Mr. Baker and Mr. Thomas, was organized to further knowledge and interest in the age-old game.

During the year, the club studied chess moves in detail. After much study, the club set up a tournament to find their five best members for the Chess Team.

The Shortridge Fiction Club strives to give its members experience in writing. The members tried their hands at all forms of writing. At club meetings, members presented their efforts for helpful hints from others.

Dramatists, Stage Crew Entertain

Students interested in Dramatics were always able to join Footlights. Meetings featured speakers who discussed all aspects of stage presentations.

In the annual All-School Play, members had the opportunity to use their talents and skills. Footlighters also participated in the P.T.A. musical in both on stage and off stage capacities.

Any member of Footlights who accumulated ten Thespian points on stage productions was eligible for membership in the National Thespian Society. To get one Thespian point the student needed to produce ten hours of work on stage productions. Membership was not limited to only those who performed on stage, but also those who worked behind the scenes on lights, sound, make-up, and props.

The Stage Crew was always there behind the scenes to check on lights, scene changes, and various other behind-the-scenes work. This group built, painted, and set up the scenery. They also operated curtains, lights, the sound system, and backdrops. For this work, they also received Thespian points. Led by Mr. Studebaker, the Stage Crew kept backstage productions running smoothly.

Service Clubs Helped Needy Families

Tri-Hi-Y was a service club for boys and girls of Shortridge High School. The club had several projects during the year. The members gathered and gave a basket to a needy family for Christmas. Also on the agenda was entertaining grade school children from different city schools. Several members attended the model United Nations held at the State House, as well as the Legislature held at Indiana University.

Y-Teens also had a busy schedule this year. They were a Girls' service club affiliated with the Y.W.C.A. Through this club girls grew in friendship with people of different races, religions and backgrounds. Members donated toys and a food basket to a needy family. The toys were the price of admission to the Annual Toyland Dance. Y-Teens sold candy as a money-making project and participated in the local Y's activities.

Although the Human Relations Council was originally established to better race relations between students at Shortridge, its current programs also included a series of open forum discussions for pupils who had problems which concerned the school itself.

HRC served as a "sounding board" for student "gripes." Pupils solved their problems through group or individual analysis.

Members attended "informal-inform" meetings where students addressed the council on censorship, pupil-teacher relations, and personal attitudes toward other students. Any type of discussion was permitted and held by the group.

The HRC Conference drew county-wide attention and excellent attendance. Plans for the Conference began early in the fall semester. A variety of speakers and topics were assembled for the final meetings.

The Human Relations Council was under the direction of Mr. Roy Aberson. Meetings were usually held on Tuesday evenings in the Teachers Cafeteria.

HRC OFFICERS: Sitting: Denise Clark (V. Pres.), Aleta Hodge (Echo Corres.), Donna Pickney (Pub. Char.), Standing: John Butsch (Pres.), Darrell Gibson (Tres.).

Council Sponsored Many Activities

The featured speaker on Shortridge Day was Mayor Richard Lugar, former Shortridge graduate.

With the beginning of the 1968-69 school year, the sounding board of student opinion, the Student Council, forged a head with many projects.

A candy sale headed this list of projects. This year two kinds of candy were sold. One type was bar candy and the other was boxes of individually wrapped candies.

The Football Festival and Football Dance, which replaced the Homecoming game and dance, served as the next project for the Student Council. On October 23, students witnessed the displaying of floats representing each class, a powder-puff football game and a tug-of-war.

Another project on the agenda was Shortridge Day, a celebration of the moving of Shortridge High School to its present location.

Musical Replaced PTA Family Frolic

Telling what his singing sensation, Conrad Birdie, is like, Randy Strand sings out in front of the press at the railroad station.

Since there was no Family Frolic this year, the Music Department presented the Broadway hit musical "Bye, Bye, Birdie" as the PTA's chief money-making project.

The musical concerns rock'n'roll idol Conrad Birdie. When he is drafted into the Army, the teenagers of the nation are distressed, but no more than Conrad's manager, Albert Peterson. Albert, with the help of his secretary and financee, Rose Alvarez, devised a plan to pacify the teenagers and save his business. He chooses at random a member of the Birdie Fan Club upon whom Conrad will bestow a farewell kiss, live on the Ed Sullivan Show. The lucky fan is Kim McAfee, President of the Conrad Birdie Fan Club of Sweetapple, Ohio.

The story has a happy ending, though at times this result appears doubtful.

The musical was a success, being well received and taking in $1,400.

John Butsch as "Hugo" and Rick Adams as "Conrad Birdie" fought over Patsy Read as "Kim McAfee" who was to be kissed by Conrad.

Girls swooned and parents wondered what the world was coming to as "Conrad Birdie," alias Rick Adams, sang.

The Barbershop Quartet composed of Stewart Hawkins, Jonathan Usher, David Slates and David Bradshaw sang as Paula Consentino "Rosie" made a phone call.

Vaudeville Chairman Patsy Read gets "That Vaudeville Feeling."

Liz Ulen and David Bradshaw help to "hold up" Allen Carroll in "Thirty Dirty Birdies".

Juniors Portrayed "That Vaudeville"

Ginger and the Snaps, from "Destination: Anywhere" include Anna McAfee, Darrell Gibson, Sandra Bentley, Joy Smith, Tanya Douglas, Greg Douglas and Elloweze McAfee.

"That Vaudeville Feeling" combined all of the acts into one production for this years Vaudeville. Patsy Read as Vaudeville Chairman researched carefully before choosing the theme.

Four acts survived cuts and then started the long rehearsals necessary for the finished Junior Vaudeville. "Destination: Anywhere" by Pauletta Hart, Carol Hoskins and Stefanie Stewart was a spoof dealing with endless space. Vickie Lewis, Helen Lingeman and Leigh Wildman created "Thirty Dirty Birdies" telling the story of a missing inheritance. The eternal triangle was portrayed in "Apron String" by Kathy Jo Adams, Charles Coombs and Jack Perkins. A comedy on conformity written by Debbie Elam, Sarah Hochstedler and Cathy Wharton was called "Zandemore's a Drag or Eggplant is Our Bag."

Posing are the "Destination Anywhere" Mystery Maidens, Cheri Wiggins, Karen Clark, Denise Gibson, Sheila Shorts, and Beverly Buckner.

Ready to do the Death Dance in "Zandemor's a Drag or Eggplant is our Bag" are Jane Sondag, Marianne Mitter, Cecilia Nolcox, Sarah Ford and Yvonne Rawls.

Ready to "boo" passersby are "Thirty Dirty Birdies" Ghosts Dianne Frazier, Kris Teter, Debby Saperstein, Kathy Demas, Karen McClain, Barbie Demas

Feeling" With Straw Hat and Cane

King Eggbert, John Pellett, talks to his aid, Charles Roach, while the Alchemists Joe Ingraham and Ted Grosbach discuss spells in "Zandemor's a Drag or Eggplant is Our Bag".

Michelle Dancers, Ann Russell and Louisa Jones, get ready to "do their thing" in "Apron String".

Russians Inherit Chicago White Sox

Reginald Bentley was very funny when he tried to convince John Pellett that faked commercials are harmless.

Many hours of work go into any stage production, and the Senior Play was no exception. The play, "A Pennant for the Kremlin", was a fanciful comedy about what happened when the Chicago White Sox came under Russian ownership. The rib-tickler was when the Russian manager took complete control of the team and tried to learn the game and then became Americanized. But his activities were foiled by a lady villain imported from Russia.

But, the play was not all villainy. There was a romantic affair between one of the ball players and the Russian manager's daughter. The Russian manager also came out of it all with a nice American girlfriend.

The two performances were well-received by their audiences. The Senior class was pleased to learn that the play made much more money than expected.

James Andrews watched in awe as the baseball hit by a White Sox player cleared the right field fence.

White Sox players tried to convince Tom Hudson to talk John Pellett into keeping Yvonne Green out of the dugout.

Debbie and Janet Crowned Festival, Jamboree Queens

Debbie Blake was crowned 1968 Fall Festival Queen.

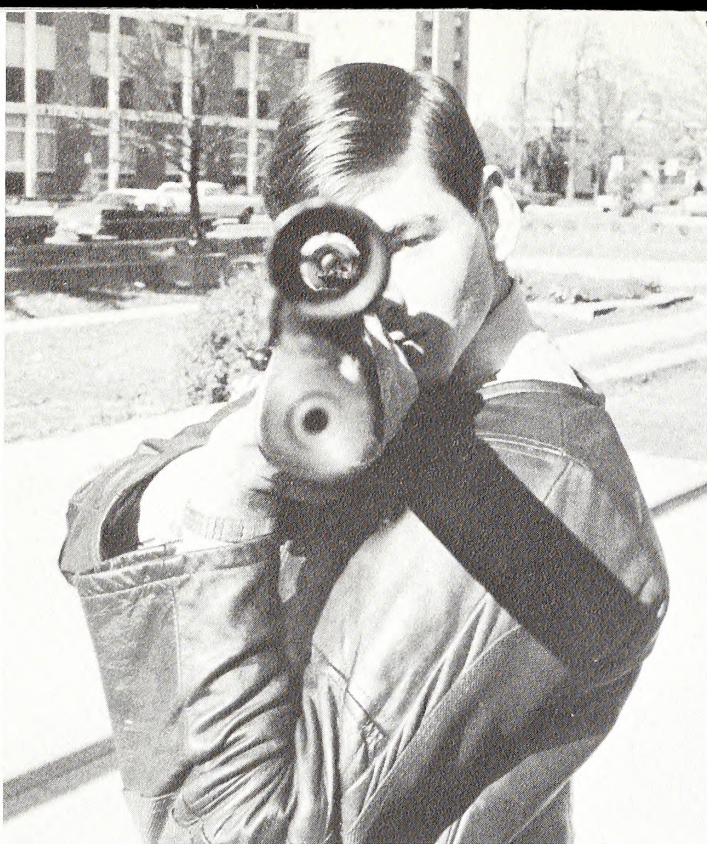

1968 Jamboree Queen was Janet Teter.

August of 1968 came, and so did the Football Jamboree. Janet Teter was elected as Jamboree Queen, while the Shortridge Blue Devils started a good football season by beating Tech 13-6. The game proved exciting for Janet, as she rooted for the Shortridge Blue Devils.

Although there was no Homecoming this year the student body still wanted to have some festivities. The students elected a Fall Festival Queen. After a powderpuff football game and tug of war, a dance was held. At the dance, Debbie Blake was elected Queen. The princesses were junior Joyce Crawford, sophomore Cheryl Bridgeforth and freshman Valerie Warner. The girls were crowned at the dance which was held in the gym that night.

Officers Reached Chain of Command

From the day a cadet enters room 241 he looks forward to membership in the Officer's Club. The club included the best of the Shortridge ROTC. Anyone that is in the club served the Shortridge ROTC for many hours of their free time as well as in the ROTC classroom. They also had shown outstanding leadership in most areas of instruction.

The Shortridge Rifle Team contained two of the best shots in the state. Tony Christian and Rex Myers shot with a group of eight of the other top firers in the city against Culver Military Academy. Tony Christian with a first place and Rex Myers with a third place helped to beat Culver for the first time in seven years. The whole Shortridge team participated in a dual elimination match with the rest of the city's ten high school ROTC rifle teams.

Activities Were Fun

"A dame in the dugout is bad luck."

The various sports offered by the Shortridge Athletic Department gave students a chance to develop physically. The Shortridger strove for excellence in Athletics. Although he preferred winning, he also was a "good sport" when he lost.

The Shortridger was also concerned about the extra knowledge and know-how that makes a game interesting. Student athletes were not the only people involved. Almost a dozen men devoted time and effort to teaching Shortridgers sports. Not to be forgotten were the spectators, that always stood behind the team to cheer them to victory. All these people made Shortridge, a school of athletics, as well as a school of people.

Lettermen, Cheerleaders Help All

The Lettermen showed their service to the school in other ways than just participating in athletics. They also sold tickets for student plays and musicals, aided teachers and administrators in their daily tasks and dispensed popcorn and soft drinks at football and basketball games all during the school year. Another such service activity was organizing and operating a cheer block for away-from-home basketball games.

An unusual feature of the Lettermen's activities was a program of selling donuts four days in the week in the cafeteria. These "goodies" were offered to students who just couldn't get up in time for breakfast.

Many social events also occupied the time of this busy group, including an athletic dinner at the end of the school year for all student athletes.

Shortridge's swinging cheerleaders warm up the crowd at an early morning pep session.

Cheerleaders Give Teams Strength

Backing the teams with "go-go-go", the cheerleaders and Pom Pom Girls encouraged fighting Shortridge players on toward state recognition.

Co-captains of the Varsity squad were Patty Smith and Rae Young, who led the group of three seniors and four juniors through football and basketball contests and many indoor and outdoor pep sessions. All the Varsity Cheerleaders attended a cheerleading camp during the summer, so that they could learn all the new cheers and routines.

The Reserve and Freshmen squads added much to the flavor of underclass competition. Miss Caryl Gaines sponsored all the cheerleading groups.

The Pom Pom Girls, a newly organized pep group this year, also helped to boost school spirit. With the aid of the band, these girls performed during basketball half-times to entertain spectators. Mrs. Marianne Inman acted as sponsor for the group in their first year.

RESERVE CHEERLEADERS—Row 1: Susie Buschmann; Row 2: Margaret Myers, Maralena Roth (Co-Captain); Row 3: Carol Henderson, Jana Walker; Row 4: Daphne Johnson (Co-Captain); Marsha McDowell.

The boys had a tug-of-war for the Football Festival, unfortunately the rope broke.

Early morning pep sessions cheered the teams to victory.

Spirit Builds Another SHS Winner

The Shortridge gridders had another almost perfect season with an 8-2 record. The team began the season well, winning the first six games before coming up to City Champion Cathedral. Trying to gain revenge, the team outscored the next two opponents almost two to one, only to end the season on a losing note in a close game against Tech.

Leading the scoring was Wayne Curley with 146 points. He was second in the city and fourth in the state in total scoring for the season. The Shortridge team had three men appointed to the All-City.

Shortridge, with 304 season points, scored more than three times as many as their opponents, who totaled 98 points.

Coach Don Benbow thought that "The team displayed themselves well on and off the field and with a few breaks they could have gone undefeated."

Coach Benbow was assisted by Coach Vince Birdin and Coach Louis Hurrel.

Senior back Wayne Curley surges toward the goaline for another touchdown to add to his already huge record.

the Varsity

The reserve gridders came up with a total season record of 4-6 as they backed up the winning varsity. After the first two wins of the season, three of the reserves graduated to the varsity, leaving the B team no choice but to improvise and use men in several positions. By the end of the season most players had played three different positions.

The first-year-men started the season slowly, but ended up with a winning 7-3 record. As the season progressed, the team learned the plays, and by the end of the season were ready to advance to reserve and varsity. In all, their two losses within the city were by a total of a slim seven points. To end the season, the Frosh found themselves runners-up in the city for the third year in a row.

The reserve coach was Louis Hurrel and the freshman coach was Joe Tofil.

It takes two big Tech opponents to bring down one little leading scorer by the name of Wayne Curley.

SHS Harriers Had the Moving Spirit

Building for the future, the Shortridge Cross Country team had many young inexperienced members. Results indicated, however, that a bright future is in store for the harriers.

Senior Kenny Randle was voted "The Most Valuable Player of the Year" by his teammates. Mike Wieg-hard was the most outstanding freshman harrier.

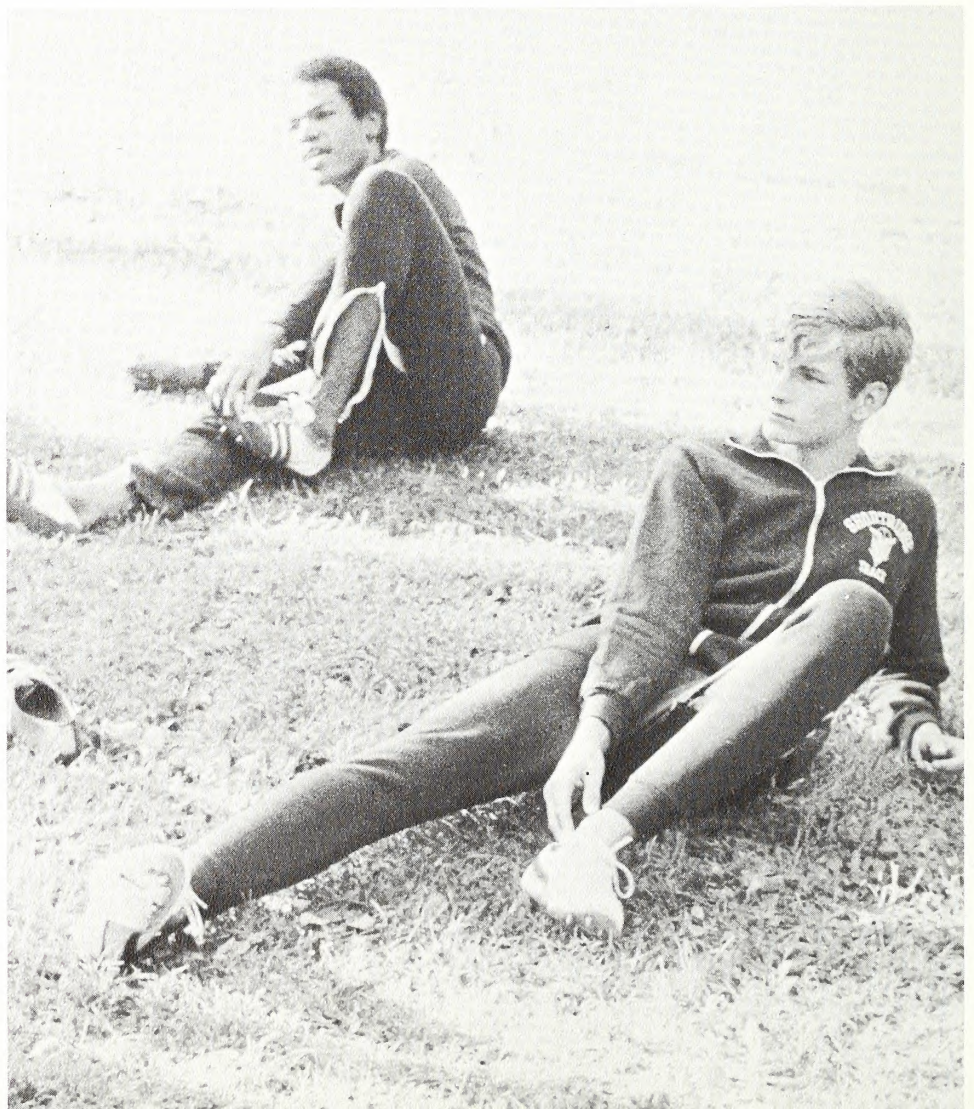

The freshmen sixth place showing in their City Cross County Meet was a good indication of what is in store for the future of the team.

Coach James Hill, himself a former Shortridge State Cross Country Champion, commented that, "Due to the spirit the boys did show, I saw a lot of improvement."

John Rauch watches as the Cross Country team including Greg Smith, Dwight Spain, Niven Drybrough, David Norwood, Kenny Randle, Robert Turner, Coach James Hill, Larry Dodson wait for the starter's signal.

Resting before a meet, harriers Robert Turner and Niven Drybrough contemplate their chances for victory.

Golfers, Racketmen Conclude Season

Although the 1968 tennis team was inexperienced and filled with underclassmen, the racketmen did their best and achieved a 5-8 record. Many of the team will return to play with a little more experience for the 1969 tennis team. Competition with tough foes including Anderson, Scecina, Cathedral and Park prepared these underclassmen for future seasons. Senior letterman Fred Rice led the team with an 11-3 record and was rated as one of the top tennis players in the state. Junior Bill Fatout and freshman Todd Dietz represented Shortridge in the 1968 State Tennis Tournament.

Despite its handicaps, the 1968 tennis team turned in a respectable performance and showed potential strength for the 1969 season.

The Golf Team was also made up of mainly underclassmen. The season started off brightly but then the golfers met some tough rivals. Still, they managed to accumulate four wins and one tie during the season. Matches with Brebeuf, Scecina and Howe proved the hardest for the Shortridge Golf team. However, they did their best this season and showed potential strength for seasons to come.

By George, Three in a Row

For the third time in as many years George Theofanis has climbed the ladder to cut down the nets after the title game at the Coliseum Sectional. Coach Theofanis and the team worked the "pizza press" to perfection, to win not only the Sectional but also the Lafayette Holiday Tournament and a second place behind No. 1 ranked Washington in the City Tournament. The Shortridge team ranked No. 7 in the final state press ratings.

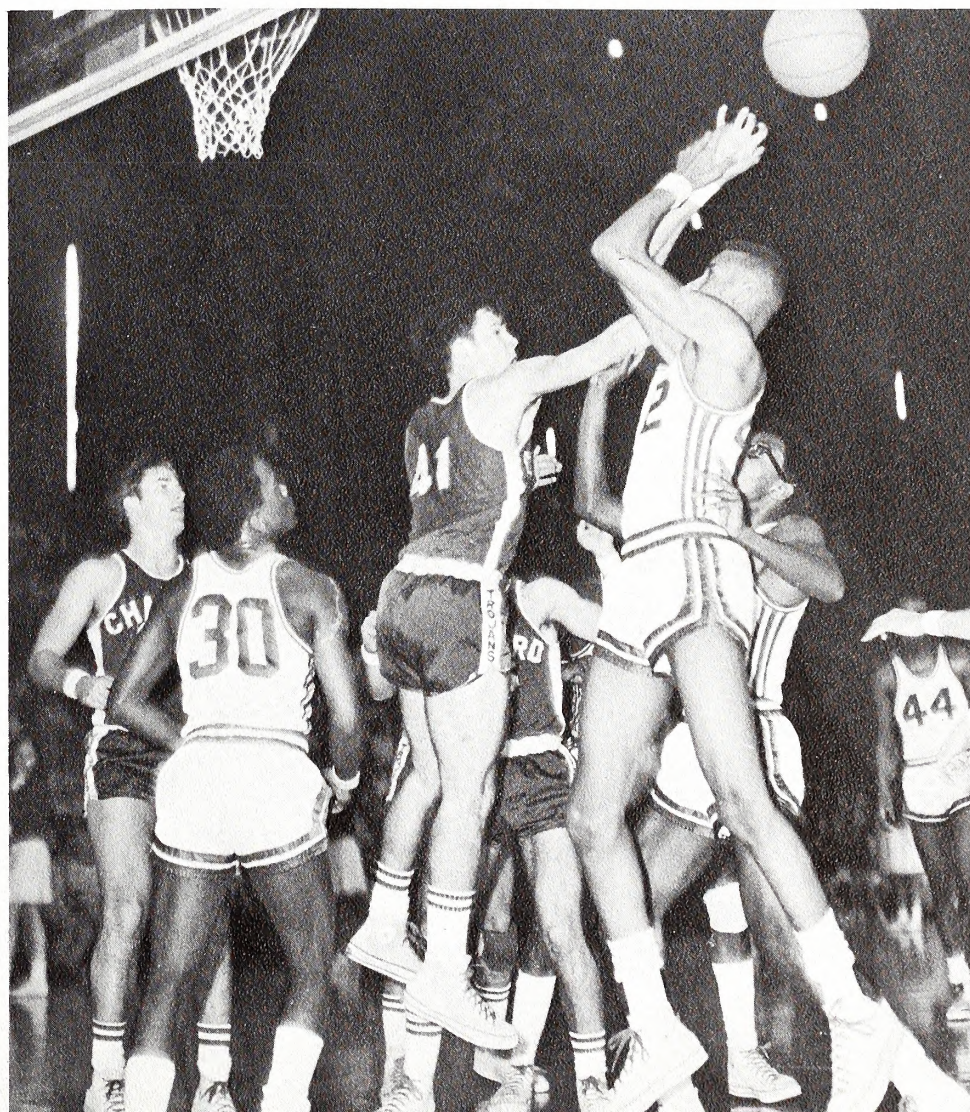

Under Coach Theofanis, the Satans equaled the best regular season record of the school. The record was 19-3 in regular season play and 22-4 overall.

The Blue Devils well balanced squad, often all in double figures, scored 1800 points in regular season play. On the average the hardwood squad scored 15 points more than their opponents. Three of the Shortridge loses were to 1969 state Champs Washington.

Tired, but happy, victorious Blue Devils posed with their Sectional trophy.

George Tandy fires another two points through Chatard's interference in Sectional play.

Flashing Shortridge guard, Greg Allen, eluded several Arlington players and moved the ball down court.

Carl Lile lead a blistering pace as he sets up a play that eventually netted two more points.

Arlington looked on in amazement as Jerry Willis leaped to score another basket.

"Double teamed", but still shooting, Greg Allen stopped on the proverbial dime as George Tandy and Gerald Willis worked for a better position under the basket.

Young Grapplers Built Future Team

With only two seniors on the varsity team, the Shortridge wrestlers did much better than their 3-7 record indicated.

Several individuals distinguished themselves in competition. Desmond Smith defended his 165 lb. City Championship, as well as receiving a second place in the sectionals. Freeman Simmons and Fred Powell both received third place ribbons in sectional competition.

Coach Vince Birdin used several underclassmen on the team including one freshman. This experienced team will be invaluable to future Shortridge grapplers.

The varsity worked out their new holds on the reserve team members. These future varsity members ended the season with a 2-8 record.

Learning the basics to supply future teams, the freshmen finished with a 3-3-1 record. Several frosh wrestled on the Reserve and Varsity teams. Coach Birdin was assisted by Reserve Coach James Hill and Freshman Coach Louis Hurrele. James Hill is a past State Wrestling Champ from Shortridge.

Matman Anthony Spradley pins his opponent for another win in the 112 lb. class for the Satans.

Sprinters Race for Winner's Circle

In a blur of speed, Niven Drybrough is in hot pursuit of an opposing runner during an exciting meet.

The 1968 Varsity Track team under the guidance of Mr. Robert Wood worked their way to a 4-1-1 dual meet record for the season. The boys also participated in several 3-way meets and the North Central Relays. Shortridge was first in the meet with Brebeuf and Marshall.

In the City Meet, Shortridge Track men took fourth place. In the city mile relay, the team composed of James English, Ed Matthews, Carlton Golder and Milton Dailey finished second. In the 440 yard dash Milton Dailey took third while Keith Johnson was fifth in the 100 yard dash. Desmond Smith, Morris Woolridge, James Lewis and Wayne Curley made up the 880 yard relay team. They received fifth. Third place was taken by Joe Meals in both the high and low hurdles.

Shortridge was seventh in the sectionals. Joe Meals, Milton Dailey, James English and Carlton Golder all qualified for the regionals. In the regionals Milton Dailey and James English "made" the State Meet.

'68 Diamondmen Stress Teamwork

The Shortridge Baseball team, under the direction of Mr. Thomas Harding and Mr. George Theofanis, practiced long hours for the 1968 season. The boys encountered many tough opponents during the year, but still they tried to do their best. Although they didn't have a winning season, several players were outstanding. These boys knew they tried their best and next time they'll try a little harder.

Several of the ten members of the baseball team were seniors and therefore will not be returning for the 1969 season. However, the others now have the experience and the veteran ability to have a better season next time.

Drum Major, Majorettes Led Band

A majorette gives the "V" for victory sign as the Blue Devils head for another win.

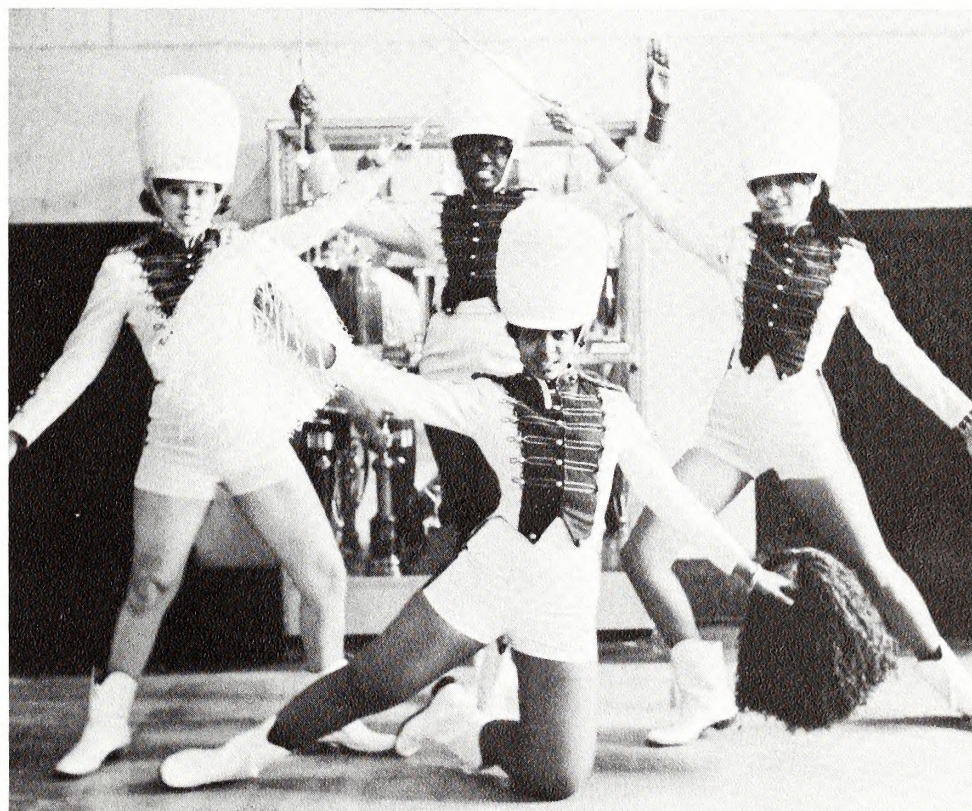

Four high-stepping majorettes and a drum major led the band with half-time spirit. Lowell Bridgewater was selected as drum major for the year 1968-1969. With his whistle and baton he directed the band in their many marching procedures.

The four majorettes keep spirit moving with their baton twirling and pom-pom activities. To qualify as a majorette the girl must be a sophomore, be in the majorettes one year and have basic baton twirling knowledge and ability. The girls make up their own routines and take part in most of the band's activities. Also, the majorettes headed the pom-pom girls and took part in most of those activities. The majorettes include Liz Dahl, Phyllis Jewell, Carol King and Pat Ford.

DRUM MAJOR—Lowell Bridgewater

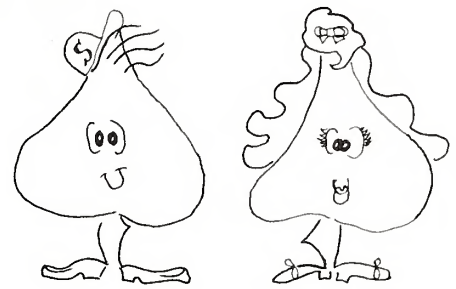

MAJORETTES—Kneeling: Pat Ford Standing: Liz Dahl, Phyllis Jewell, Carol King.

Shortridge was the unification of the administration, faculty and the student body. Each person had an important part to play . . . and they played it well.

Beginning as freshmen, students learned the roles they must play for success. They progressed through the various stages of academic achievement, sophomore and junior, until they were aware they were close to their final goal . . . that of seniors ready for graduation. And graduate they did . . . moving into a future of college, employment and marriage, and taking their place as solid citizens of a world community.

It was difficult to leave behind those teachers who had guided them into the future . . . those friends who went their separate ways . . . those administrators whose counsel had done so much to develop their potential for success.

Yes, they had learned that Shortridge was . . . and is today . . . People.

The Class of '72 made a tombstone for the teams "killed" by Shortridge for their Fall Festival Float.

... Presiding at Key Club meetings occupied the time of many Shortridge senior men.

... Meeting to plan future senior activities were senior class officers, elected at the beginning of the year.

Seniors Could be Found Everywhere

Seniors could be found . . .
 . . . intently watching watches and pendulums in physics.
 . . . cheering their teams to another triumph.
 . . . falling into garbage cans.
 . . . campaigning for class office.
 . . . peering into microscopes at fruit flies.
 . . . drawing in the Roda Selleck Art Gallery.
 . . . assisting Juniors with their Vaudeville.
 . . . reading Peanuts.
 . . . editing the Echo.
 . . . creating the Annual.
 . . . taking College Boards.
 . . . waiting for the "letter of joy"—their college admission.
 . . . playing touch football.
 . . . breathing a sigh of relief that they finally made it through.

... Running experiments, which occurred during a Physics class, and measured time in its flight.

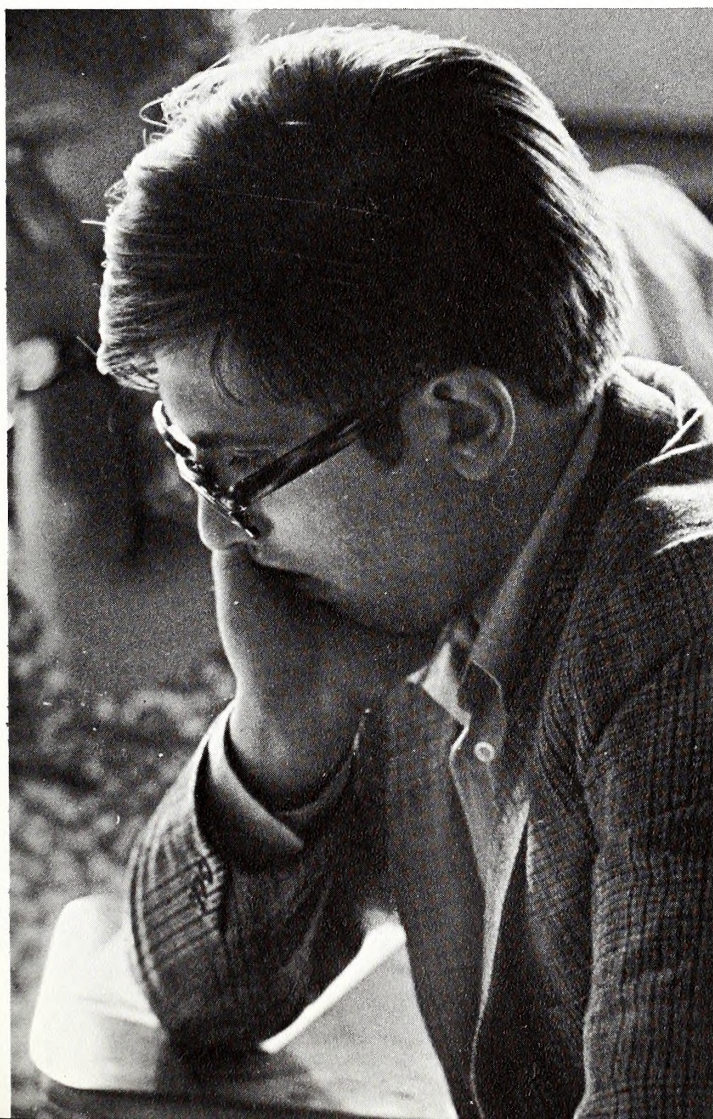

... "Practicing" for the senior play, "A Pennant for the Kremlin" took lots of concentration on the part of the players.

... Helping Santa distribute Senior Christmas presents at the Senior Christmas Party made many participants chuckle.

Doing 'Most Anything at Any Time

... Meditating over a difficult assignment in an engrossing class dealing with the United States government.

... Choosing a cover for the Christmas Echo presented problems and required decisions for the seniors on the committee.

Class of 69 Selected Junior Queen

Runner-up—Ruth McNairy

Queen—Rae Young

3rd Place—Patzetta Jackson

Sara Branson

"Reflection Of" was selected by the Junior Prom committee as the theme of the spring formal. A reflection pool in the center of the room carried through the theme. Decorations were also made of material that would reflect the multi-colored lights placed around the Indiana Roof, where the dance was held. A soul sound was supplied by David Harriman and the Chromatics Band. Prom Chairmen were John Butsch and Dietra Moore.

Junior Prom Queen was Rae Young. Ruth McNairy and Patzetta Jackson were runner-up and third, respectively.

Barbara Burns

Patty Caldwell

Elaine Hart

Ilze Kurins

Barbara Smith

Wanda Cole

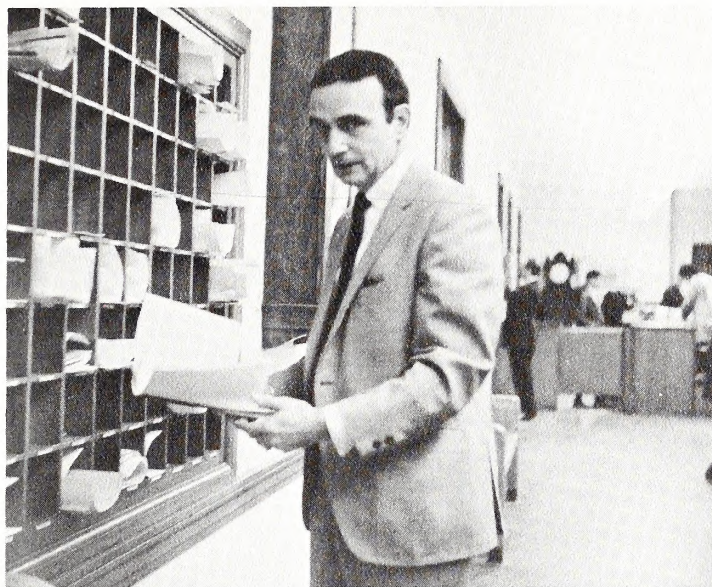

Mary Steichen

Janet Teter

... You might have picked up your mail early in the A.M.

... You might have gotten quite dramatic in teaching a course.

Mr. Philip Hirsch Was "Speechless"

The Class of 1969 dedicated this year's ANNUAL to Mr. Philip Hirsch. Mr. Hirsch, through his continued support of the Class of 1969, helped make both the Junior Vaudeville, Vaudeville a la Mod, and the Senior class play, A Pennant for the Kremlin, overwhelming successes.

Mr. Hirsch was brought to the auditorium to receive the award by Shortridge Principal Robert J. Shultz under the ruse of inspecting the stages lighting facilities. In accepting the honor, Mr. Hirsch, a speech teacher, commented, "For once I'm speechless."

Mr. Hirsch had been a member of the Shortridge faculty for eleven years. In addition to his duties as a teacher in the English and Social Studies Departments, he was Shortridge's general production manager and sponsor of the Thespian and Footlights Clubs.

If you were Mr. Philip Hirsch, this is how you might have spent a typical day . . .

... You might have had time to grab a cup of coffee at lunch.

... You might have directed one of the many Shortridge theatrical productions late into the evening hours or . . .

... You might have become quite exhausted at the end of a day's labor.

Seniors Chose Officers and Council

SENIOR OFFICERS—Ruth McNairy, John Eble, Fred Powell, Denise Mullens, Sandy James.

Vigorous campaigning preceded the autumn elections of senior officers. Assisting Mrs. Otto, class sponsor, in conducting the elections were the Class of 1969's junior officers.

Elected by classmates in the early fall, members of Senior Council, with the aid of the officers, planned and executed various class activities throughout the year. In the fall the thirty-four members of Council met regularly to get the year successfully underway. Their first act was the proposal of two amendments to the class Constitution which were brought before a class meeting and accepted. In addition, Council members acted in behalf of their classmates in selecting Commencement announcements and the ANNUAL dedicatee, Mr. Philip Hirsch.

Class Day Officers Plan Festivities

CLASS DAY OFFICERS—Sitting: Denise Clark (historian), Standing: Mike Dabney (will-maker), Susie Turnipseed (prophet), Jon Gordon (giftorian).

In February of 1969 the Class Day Officers were elected. Planning Class Day was their responsibility. They put together a skit incorporating their various duties. The will-maker was responsible for making the senior class will, in which student "trademarks" would be passed on to the next class. The giftorian presented seniors with gifts, to remind them of their high-school days. Foreseeing the future of the senior class members was the job of the Prophet. The story of the four years of the Class of 1969 was told by the Historian.

Helping out with class day, and all other class functions were the financial advisor, Mrs. Mary Siegel, Class Sponsor, Mrs. Dorothy Otto, and college counselor, Miss Elizabeth Evans. All were invaluable in making sure that the senior year was a success. Mrs. Otto and Miss Evans worked on the many college applications turned in by those seniors planning to attend college. Mrs. Siegel handled all of the many financial functions of the senior class.

HOURS
11AM TO 6PM

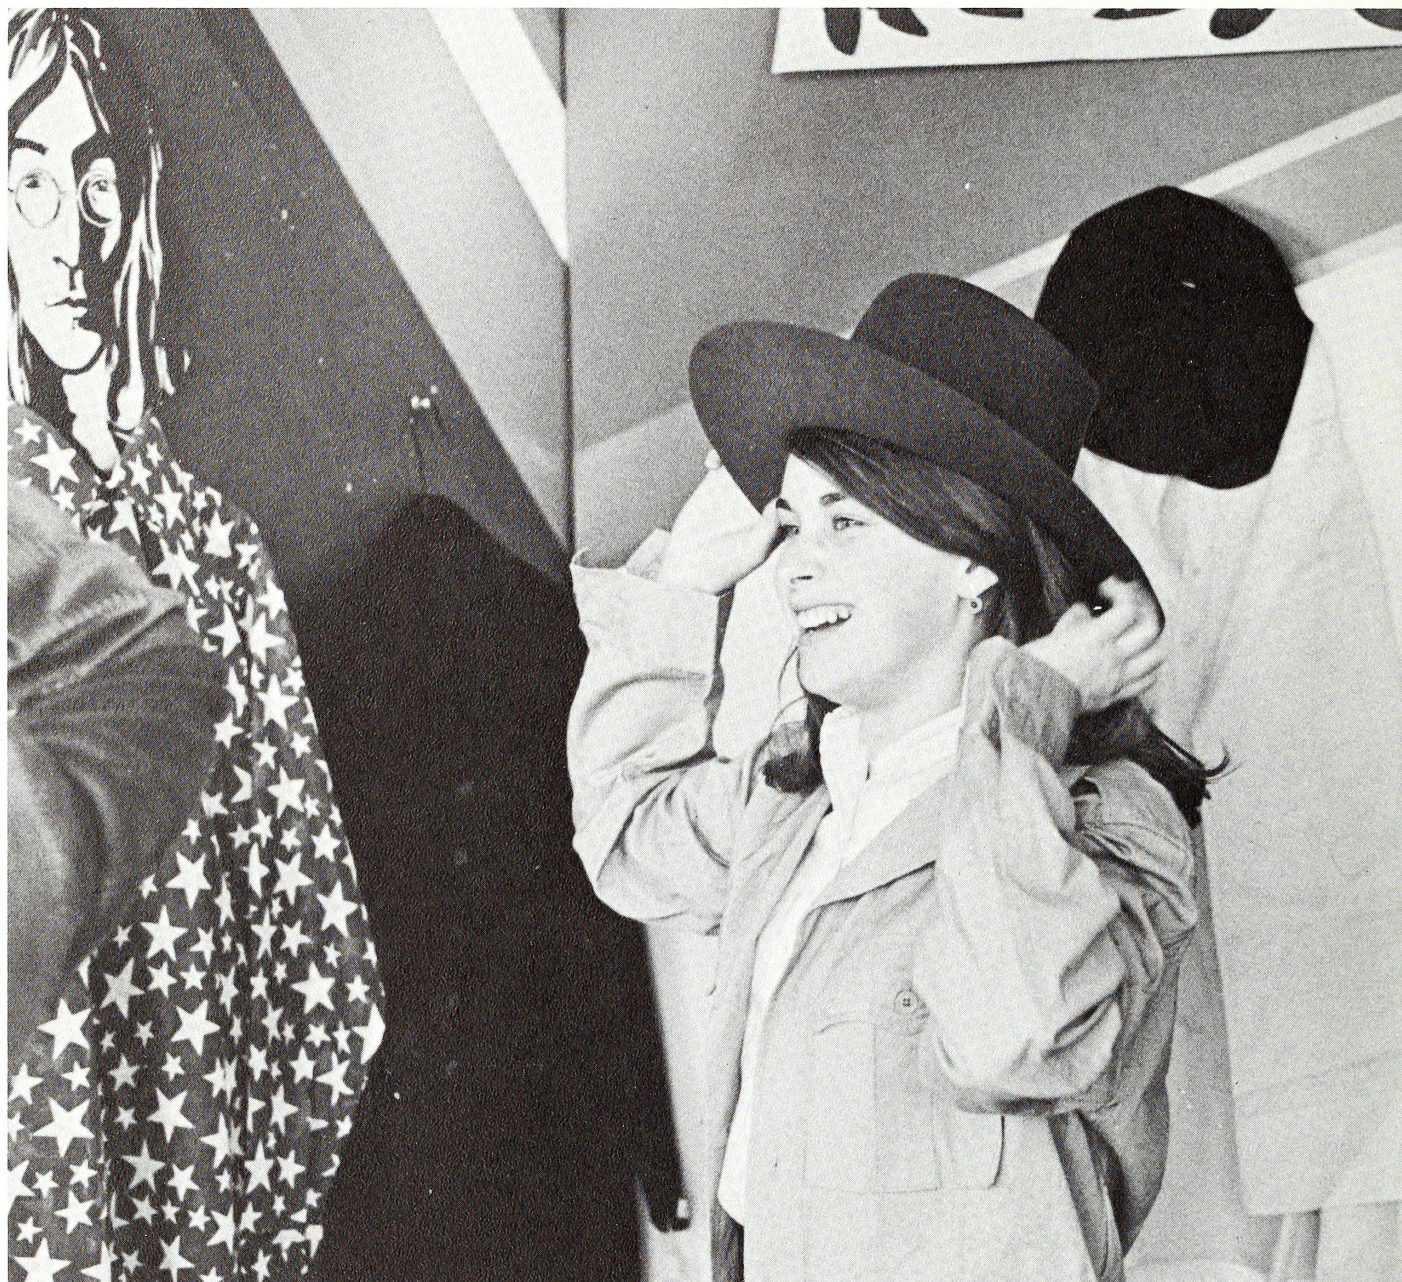

Shortridge journeyed out into the business world as buyers and sellers. They sold advertising for the various school publications and bought all things necessary for school life. Shorridgers also held jobs and prepared themselves for tomorrow's work. Employers and sales people were added to the list of Shortridge people. Businesses helped support Shortridge, just as Shortridge helped the businesses, proving once again that Shortridge is People.

The R.O.T.C. Color Guard was found raising the Stars and Stripes in the morning at Shortridge.

Mr. Nipper addressed the student body during an early morning pep session.

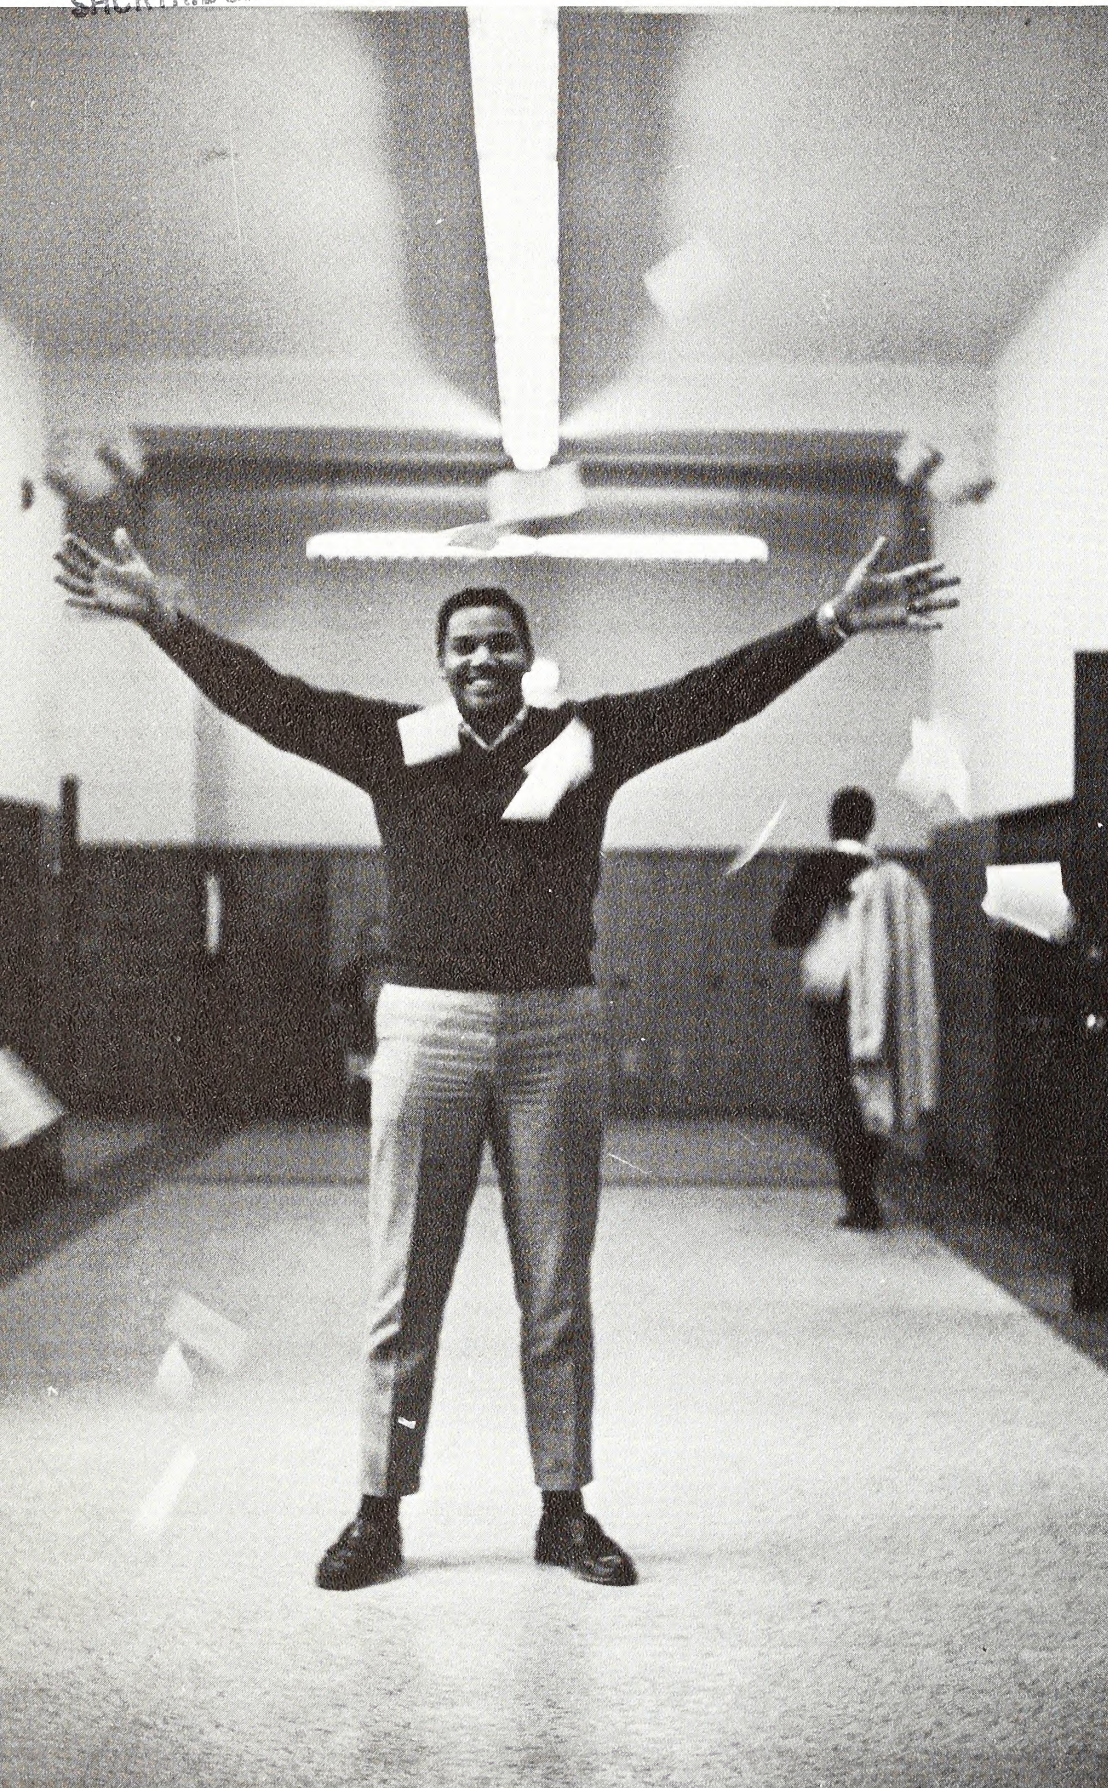

Our thanks to all those people who have helped during the year and made the 1969 ANNUAL possible. Among those we wish to thank are Mr. Houston, Advisor, Mr. Kennard, Newsfoto Representative, Mr. Shultz, Principal, Mrs. Siegal, Financial Advisor, Mrs. Otto, Senior Sponsor, Miss Grubb, Director of Publications, L. S. Ayres Photo-Reflex, Official Senior Photographer, National School Studios, Underclassmen Photographer, and Mr. and Mrs. James, Editor's Parents, for all their help and understanding. All of this help just goes to prove once more that Shortridge is People.

Sandra K. James
1969 ANNUAL Editor

The year had come to a close and . . . only the memories of Shortridge remained with the seniors. We had ended our high school years. We rejoiced that we were leaving, but we couldn't help missing all those we had met, including our Friend Shortridge.

There would be no more form 23's, study slips or even conference slips for us, but we wouldn't forget them. Most of all, the memories of people lingered in our minds. For now we were leaving teachers and friends. During our years, we had come to realize that these special people made Shortridge. So, we can never forget that Shortridge was, and always will, be People.
